Debt Owed City May Mean End Of Pro Baseball

Stop Subsidy, Boost Amateurs, Committee Urged by Skillings

By RAY BAINES

A possible end to professional baseball in Victoria was threatened yesterday after a stormy executive committee discussion of the club's debt and obligations to the city.

City Solicitor Arthur Patton was instructed to make a study of the contract between the city and the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Company and report back to the committee.

Ald. Waldo Skillings led the discussion after a letter and report from Parks Superintendent W. H. Warren was read.

"It's high time this thing came before council once and for all," Ald. Skillings said. "This ballyhoo about 'save baseball' is ludicrous. It's time we stopped subsidizing professional sport at the expense of the amateurs."

BACK TO AMATEURS

"The sooner we get rid of professional ball and give the park back to amateur sports the better," he added.

In his letter, Mr. Warren said the drive for funds would only wipe out the debt "incurred over the last couple of years, with little or nothing left for operational expenses."

Attendance, Mr. Warren said, would have to be double that of last year in order to pay off the equivalent of the accumulated indebtedness.

"This appears to be an impossibility and forecasts a very dim future for the company. For that reason I think we should be fully protected in all our dealings with the company."

Mr. Warren said he thought the city was wrong in "underwriting professional ball to the extent of $3,960 as shown for last year." The whole matter could be corrected by re-writing the agreement, he said, "assuming that the company has definitely broken the terms of its lease."

REPORT DELAYED

In his report (originally written in September, 1951, and not made public until yesterday) Mr. Warren outlined the original 1945

Fresh Meat May Be Gone From City by Next Week

Emergency Supply Sought From U.S.

Unless emergency supplies are received from the United States, Victoria will have no fresh meat next week.

A city representative of one of the province's largest meat distributing firms gave this gloomy prophecy last night, after learning that the banning of possibly-infected meat from the prairies extended to dressed meat, as well as livestock.

"We had hoped that dressed meat would be allowed in, but the ban is tight," he said.

He said that his and other meat packing firms in Vancouver would undoubtedly try to make some kind of arrangement to have U.S. meat shipped over the border before the week-end.

Victoria's meat supply, even if there is normal buying, will be exhausted by then, he said.

DONKEYS, TOO

B.C. Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman said the ban on prairie livestock, to guard the province's herds of game as well as cattle against hoof-and-mouth disease extends to everything down to goats and donkeys.

Meat distributors here said that U.S. meat would take care of B.C.'s needs only for a short time, but would not hazard a guess as to price.

Victoria prices yesterday were reported firm, and there was little evidence of panic buying, although some dealers ordered more stocks than usual.

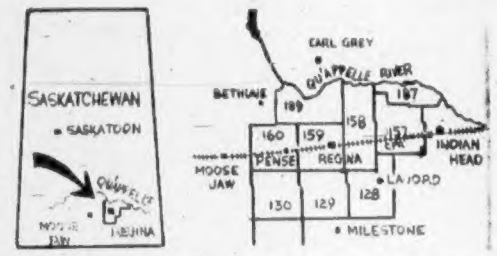
MAY CULL HERDS

Interior B.C. herds will not be ready for market until the summer, but Dr. W. R. Gunn, provincial livestock commissioner, said some relief might be given by cattlemen who could weed their herds of dry cows or animals unsuitable for breeding.

Dr. Gunn said he did not anticipate a long closure of the boundary.

Victorians will rush to stock up on canned meats, one dealer predicted.

Vancouver meat packing firms, who supply the Island, did not learn of the border-closure order until late yesterday afternoon.



Municipalities in the Regina district from which movement of livestock has been banned by the federal government are shown in map. A revision of the quarantine area Tuesday further enlarged this area. The map on the left shows the area in relation to the province.—(CP photo.)

B.C. Boundary Closed to Stock

Provincial Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman yesterday said the prairie situation "becomes too serious, we'll have to get our meat from the U.S. or eat more canned meats."

MINISTERS MEET

Mr. Gardiner left Victoria for Ottawa yesterday after a meeting with Mr. Bowman, after which he said he still considered border closure unnecessary at this time.

Mr. Gardiner, who was to have attended the B.C. Natural Resources conference today, said he had been recalled to Ottawa because of the hoof-and-mouth crisis.

He said that special federal legislation will have to be passed, but did not elaborate.

"I have had indications that the hoof-and-mouth disease outbreak is under control, and that the authorities hope to keep it that way," he said.

Canada Increases N.A.T.O. Air Aid

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (CP).—Defense Minister Claxton disclosed today Canada has boosted her promised air contribution for European defense to 12 from 11 jet fighter squadrons and said they all will be overseas by 1954. Two already are in England.

Mr. Claxton and External Affairs Minister Pearson — both tired men flew back to Ottawa together from the Lisbon meeting of the North Atlantic Council and joined in hailing it as a "meeting of decision" which ma'e N.A.T.O. "a going concern."

The disclosure about the increase in air plans came when Mr. Claxton said 12 squadrons will be ready before enough airfields in Europe are ready for all of them although negotiations for the first airfield in France are going on with the French government.

When reporters later asked whether Mr. Claxton intended to use a figure 12, a defense department spokesman said it was, that the increase of one squadron was agreed on before the Lisbon meeting but had not previously been announced.

The 12 squadrons will form a so-called air division. The spokesman said that N.A.T.O. wanted all the airpower it could get and Canada felt she could offer one more squadron.

Mr. Claxton described as "a miracle" the fact that the Lisbon meeting managed in four days to reach agreement on a joint sharing of costs for airfields, communications, combat headquarters and other rear-area factors which N.A.T.O. lumps together under the heading "infrastructure."

It will mean, he said, that the cost of airfields Canada is expected to have four on the continent for the air division—will be split two ways. Out of N.A.T.O.'s own funds will come the money to build all airfields up to a certain minimum standard of operational sufficiency. Once that standard is reached it will be up to the country which uses the individual field to outfit it with such things as barracks, mess halls and offices.

The fields will be N.A.T.O. fields.

Mass Grave for Cattle Needed Before Slaughter

REGINA, Feb. 26 (CP).—Federal government officials said tonight that slowness of the digging of a mass cattle grave will delay the start of the slaughtering of Regina district cattle, infected with the world's most infamous cattle plague, the dreaded foot-and-mouth disease.

Diseased animals are to be shot by R.C.M.P., liberally covered with unslaked lime and then buried. Digging of the first grave, on the farm of Konstantin Haun, where 40 cattle are afflicted with the disease, began today.

P.F.R.A. workmen, using mighty bulldozers, tried unsuccessfully today to dig into ground frozen solid for five feet. Late in the afternoon strips of oil-soaked coal were set afire along the projected trenchway.

PLANS CHANGED

Dr. L. B. Thomson, P.F.R.A. director, said tonight that the original intention of digging a cattle grave on each of the infected farms would likely be abandoned, since digging through the frozen earth posed such a problem.

Now the plan is to dig the trench on the Haun farm large enough for at least 200 animals. Dr. Thomson said the trench would measure about 200 by 60 feet and 10 feet deep.

He said federal agencies have arranged to transport some other animals to the Haun farmstead for killing and burying in the one grave.

Dr. Kenneth Wells of the federal agriculture health of animals division estimate that about 850 head of cattle in the 11 rural municipalities surrounding Regina City will be shot. On the slaughter list are also 190 swine and 140 sheep. The disease has appeared on 22 farms.

SOME COMPENSATION

Owners of the animals slaughtered will receive federal compensation ranging from $40 to $100 a head, plus allowances for value of carcass.

Federal authorities also announced that the quarantine area had extended over two more municipalities, bringing the number to 11. The two added today were Elmsthorpe, about 40 miles south of Regina, and its neighboring municipality of Caledonia.

Early Mistake In Diagnosis Slowed Action

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (CP).—A federal veterinarian said today that the reason for the delay in implementing foot-and-mouth disease control measures in the Regina area was because the infection at first was believed to be stomatitis, a milder animal disease.

Dr. J. McL. Stuart, an agriculture department veterinarian, was commenting on a dispatch from Regina that said the first report of the infection was made last Nov. 26, on the farm of Leonard Waas, about 40 miles from Regina.

He said that when the first report came in, veterinarians in Regina surmised that it was stomatitis and began treatment to clean it up. Some of the animals on the farm appeared to be recovering.

However, after "some time," it was found that the infection was not eliminated and there was a suspicion that the infection might be foot-and-mouth.

"As soon as we suspected that it was foot-and-mouth, we worked as quickly as possible," Dr. Stuart said.

Dr. Thomas Childs, chief veterinarian, rushed to Regina to make an on-the-spot investigation. Samples of the infected tissue were shipped to the department's Hull, Que., laboratories for tests.

"The tests took some time," said Dr. Stuart.

Working for Public, President Declares

Ball club officials have a "clear conscience" and wish only to do something for the community and the youth of the city, said J. V. Johnson, president of the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Co. Ltd. last night.

"We are just trying to give the people of Victoria something we believe they want and we have hoped for their co-operation and the co-operation of the city," he said..

Mr. Johnson said the company had a responsibility to the shareholders who have shown their support of professional baseball.

"We will do what we think is right. Not one of the directors ever made a dollar, but they have taken a lot of abuse," he declared. "We're not asking anything we are not entitled to. We feel that the citizens have demonstrated they don't want baseball to leave and we hope they will continue to feel that way. If they don't, it will be gone forever."

The club president said that it was through the efforts of the baseball company over six years that other sports have been possible in the park.

He said the recent visit of a leading professional English soccer club would not have been possible in the old park.

"We can seat 6,000 in there now, after sinking $30,000 into the park."

"Other creditors are trying to help us because people here want baseball. We will leave it to the judgment of the city council, who we hope will feel the same way," Mr. Johnson said.

Cape Breton Teachers Back at Work

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 26 (CP).—Striking rural and village teachers in Cape Breton County decided today to return to their desks tomorrow, ending Nova Scotia's first school strike.

The 243 strikers, who walked out Jan. 31 to back up wage demands of $300 a year, will receive a cost-of-living bonus of $100 a year plus another $100 for married men.

The teachers, whose strike left about 5,500 students without classes, earlier refused the offer.

Still on strike, however, are 94 rural and village teachers in Antogonish County, on the mainland. They asked a similar $300 increase. About 2,000 students are without classes there.

The Cape Breton teachers decided to return to work under an agreement which will allow them to make up lost teaching days, thus retaining their seniority and pension qualifications.

They also asked their parent Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, an unaffiliated body with no legal bargaining powers under Nova Scotia law, the Department of Education and Municipalities, to combine in a request for a commission to study the teachers' salary question.

A-Bomb Possession Disclosed by Churchill

LONDON, Feb. 26 (CP).—Winston Churchill told the House of Commons tonight that Britain has the atom bomb and won from the House a 318 to 285 vote of confidence on his foreign policy.

Fighting off Labor Party attempts to censure him for a controversial speech before the United States Congress last month, the 77-year-old Prime Minister denied vigorously making any secret agreements in his Washington talks with President Truman.

He insisted that Britain's policy toward China remained unchanged.

Churchill said the Labor government, defeated in last October's election, not only produced the atom bomb in secret but also set up a plant for regular production.

The program was so secret, the Prime Minister said, that he learned about the bomb himself only after coming back into power four months ago.

In the angry, bitter debate over foreign policy, Churchill lashed back at pacifist elements in the Labor Party. He claimed the former Labor government itself had been ready as far back as last May to join in taking action "not confined to Korea" in the event of heavy air attacks on United Nations forces from bases in China.

Aneurin Bevan—who has led the anti-American policy group in the Labor Party—led a howl of protest and demanded that Churchill produce proof on the statement.

The Labor censure motion that precipitated the debate charged that Churchill misled the U.S. Congress in his declaration Jan. 17 that Britain would take "prompt, resolute and effective" action alongside the U.S. if a Korean truce, once reached, was broken.

Churchill's disclosure of the atom bomb gave point to a British announcement 10 days ago that, later this year, Britain will test an atomic weapon in Australia.

Late Sitting Set Tonight

First night sitting of the provincial legislature probably will be held tonight, starting at 8 o'clock.

Debate on the Throne Speech will be resumed in the House this afternoon by Andrew Whisker (L., Cowichan-Newcastle). Other speakers will be Charles Morrow (L., North Okanagan) and Leo Nimsick (C.C.F., Cranbrook).

Speakers scheduled for tonight's sitting are Leigh Stevenson (P.C., Vancouver-Point Grey) and Arthur Turner (C.C.F., Vancouver East).

Missing Army Nurse Found in New York

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (CP).—An army nursing sister, Lieut. Elizabeth Sansom, who has been the subject of a widespread search for more than two months, has been found in New York City.

In a brief statement issued late today, army headquarters said that details of her disappearance "are still meagre," but that she has definitely been located and will be returned to the home of her parents at Stanley, N.B.

The nurse, aged 26, had been missing since last Dec. 24, when she boarded a train at Kingston, Ont., where she was stationed. She presumably was going to spend Christmas with relatives in Sherbrooke, Que.

The army statement said Miss Sansom "appears to have been the victim of amnesia."

She had been in touch with her parents yesterday by letter. They informed army authorities, who in turn sent the matron of the Kingston Hospital, Capt. Margaret Dewar, to New York to locate the girl.

Capt. Dewar will accompany Lieut. Sansom to her parents' home "shortly," the army announcement said. Miss Sansom will remain there "until she returns to duty," it added.

Army Impossible Before 1954

No German Soldiers, Ex-General Declares

FRANKFURT, Feb. 26 (INS).—A former top-ranking German general said tonight that Western Germany's proposed new army will not be ready to help fight a trained aggressor before 1954.

He warned the western powers are "completely unrealistic if they visualize a newly-formed German army as an immediately effective bulwark in defending Europe."

The former military leader, whose name was once a by-word in world military academies, spoke in an exclusive interview.

His views were in sharp contrast to optimistic official statements in Bonn regarding Germany's reported contribution of 12 divisions to the six-nation European defense army.

The former general, now retired, who asked to remain anonymous, said at best Germany could hope for a "ghost army" before 1954. He expained:

"To build a new army out of nothing takes time, and fear is a bad counsellor.

"Let us face the fact that today there is no such thing as a German soldier.

"For more than six years now we have had no military establishments.

"A new generation of youngsters has grown up—untrained, split in ideologies, most of them confused, emotionally insecure, unsure of their role in the future pattern of Europe.

"Among the former trained professional officers and enlisted men I fear that few could be utilized immediately.

"Most of them are either too old, totally out of training, or have found new jobs in industry or business."

Many Near Regina Facing Ruin

Farmers Experience Nightmare With No Awakening

REGINA, Feb. 26 (CP).—Regina district farmers don't have that consolation of waking up to end a nightmare.

Because of the outbreak of the dreaded foot-and-mouth disease among livestock in the district, many of the farmers will get little sleep for a while. They may have to endure a nightmare of one year or more in duration.

These farmers, who waited out the 1929-36 drought that transformed southern Saskatchewan into a virtual dust bowl, now face the prospect of seeing carefully-nurtured herds of diseased livestock slaughtered.

They bounced back from the drought to enjoy prosperity for a while. Now they face partial or total ruin.

One farmer didn't sleep last night. Instead, he stayed awake to wonder whether his herd would be next on the list of those infected with foot-and-mouth disease. That would mean the official "guillotine."

For others the waiting period was over. They would watch their herds buried in a communal pit.

Konstantin and Jean Haun sat in their Regina outskirts home today with nothing to do.

They received word yesterday that their 40-head herd would have to be destroyed.

A mile west of their home, a prairie farm rehabilitation bulldozer was rolling up and down a field taking off snow and topsoil for Canada's first foot-and-mouth victims' burial ground.

The Hauns watched all this in stunned disbelief.

"My cattle are as healthy as can be," said Mr. Haun in mild protest. He knew loud complaining would solve nothing. He was a study in futility.

"I can't see why they shoot those cattle. I fed them yesterday and I called my wife, Jean, and said to her, look how those cows are eating."

Though Haun's animals look clear-eyed and firm of mouth now, they're just so much bad beef in the official black book.

Haun has a young Jersey cow he bought for $600 a few months ago, and a pet Holstein.

"They're gentle, like two babies in the barn. They sure produced milk," he said.

Of Haun's herd, 25 had been on the mechanical milking line until they were condemned. They yielded 600 pounds of milk daily, $480 every two weeks, roughly $1,000 per month.

On the basis of a $400 per head average value, Haun works his loss out at $15,000. In addition, his income is cut short. He'll be out of the dairy business for at least nine months.

That makes a total loss of $25,000 for 1952. It's small satisfaction to Haun to know he can write a big zero on his 1952 income tax papers.

How did the woman of the house feel about it?

"This is too big a blow, far worse than the depression," said Mrs. Haun.

"In those years the rains never came. But you always waited and looked for those clouds. The dust storms came and blew out.

"The dry years lasted from 1929 to 1936. You got used to it."

Haun figured he would get one-third of the value of each animal and "that $100 is nothing compared to what the value is."

"Even if they (the federal government) give me an average of $300 I'm still the loser. I have no income."

Mrs. Haun said it would be nine months to a year before they could get started again in the dairy business.

"By that time I'll be dead," said Haun. "I'm going to apply for the old age pension. I'll be 70 in July."

Haun was born in Russia on the banks of the old Volga River and has been living in the Regina district since 1913.

Ken Tracy, P.F.R.A. field man from Moose Jaw, was supervising the grave digging operations today. He said frost ran down five feet in the gumbo. They couldn't use dynamite. They're building a coal bonfire tonight to thaw out the pit.

It will measure 200 feet long, 60 wide and 10 deep. The hole will provide 14 square feet for big animals and five square feet for calves and small cows.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A great sigh of relief will go up from the Motor Vehicle Bureau when the automobile licensing deadline passes at the end of the week.

For one thing, the frantic last-minute rush will be over. For another thing, the clerks behind the counter will be free for five whole years from the anti-13 pixies, the "gimme-the-same-number-as-my-address" boys and [illegible] arithmetical progression of headaches.

In place of the old steel plates, the Oakalla workshop this year is turning out aluminum plates designed to stay on a car until 1957. (They need galvanized bolts, by the way.)

I dropped into the Motor Vehicle Bureau recently for a talk with some of the officials. They said they do their best to answer requests for specific numbers, but they really can not tie their accounting system in a knot to be obliging.

With late motorists filing past the wickets at the rate of one every 30 seconds or so, requests for special numbers are impossible to meet now.

Low number up to 3,000 are reserved until the end of January—not, as some people suppose, for high government officials, but for motorists who have held the same number before.

If a low-number citizen fails to claim his number before the end of January, the next applicant can have it. Such applications are dealt with on a first-come-first-served basis. Mail applications for the low numbers are kept on file, and the earliest letter gets the vacant number.

Officially, no number above 3,000 can be reserved. If clerks kept dealing out licenses from the pack, the sequence of numbers would get in a snarl that would take a year to straighten out.

Many motorists are dead sour on 13's—numbers containing a 13 and numbers that add up to 13. One motorist's wife wrote in her husband's name and asked to exchange a plate that contained a 13. The bureau obliged, but owing to an uncommon slip, the new number added up to 13.

Back came the plate again with a letter from the husband saying he wanted to exchange it because his wife was superstitious. It is usually the women who are superstitious about 13's.

One woman implored the bureau to exchange a 13-plate because she was certain that if she kept it, she would have an accident. The bureau declined in this case. She did have an accident. When she applied again, it was exchanged in a hurry.

One man was certain that his 13-plate had caused several accidents. Many people this year, for some reason are avoiding nines. Chinese habitually avoid fours. Numerologists want numbers that add up to the number of letters in their names. Many people want numbers that are the same as their telephone numbers or addresses.

The bureau is not anxious to exchange plates, but it occasionally does so. People with a real terror of 12, for example, may be so nervous about it that they invite accidents.

At the beginning of the year you can tell where most cars come from by their numbers. Later, the movement of cars makes it hard to tell. Victoria cars have numbers up to 40,000; Alberni, 40,001 to 43,700; Courtenay 45,401 to 48,700; Duncan, 53,201 to 57,500; Nanaimo, 67,151 to 73,650.

The Lieutenant-Governor's car bears only the Provincial coat-of-arms on a plate issued by the bureau. Licenses can't be charged to the Crown.

City May Finish Shaky Pro Baseball

contract and the amended 1948 contract. The latter provided that the city would receive $4,000 a year rental for the park and 30 per cent of the net profits from the whole operation.

The only year the city made anything on baseball was 1946, when the revenue from rental exceeded the cost of maintaining the park by $225.

In 1947, the city lost $477, he said. In 1948, it lost $1,222; 1949, $1,890; 1950, $2,284; 1951, $3,960. He estimates that the probable loss in 1952 will be $2,500.

Mr. Warren said that although the total operating cost of Athletic Park in 1951 was $13,370, there was $7,960 of that directly attributable to baseball, for which the city was to receive $4,000. The sum is still owing.

Mr. Warren noted in his report that the city spent $30,000 in 1948 for improvements in the park which were mainly benefits to baseball.

In addition, the parks superintendent stated, the city had to bear the costs of cleaning up the refuse from concessions—about $1,000 a year—and repair fences after extra billboards were erected without the city's permission.

In 1950, Mr. Warren continued, the company added three-ply backing to open bleachers to protect patrons from the wind. In 1951, wind destroyed the bleachers.

"According to the agreement, the lessee was responsible for 40 per cent of the cost of rebuilding them. The city footed the total bill at a cost of approximately $2,000.

In summary, Mr. Warren stated that in the 1951 season, the ball club drew fewer than 1,000 fans a night, "lower in fact than amateur softball."

"The approval of sharing total net profits 50-50 was a ridiculous concession. We now have no say in the operations of the club," he said. "I think it is a basic obligation that the company should pay its way in the use of the park and there should be no subsidy in any way by the city."

FAIR AGREEMENT

Mr. Warren said the original agreement made in 1945 was "a fair one" so far as financial arrangements were concerned.

At that time, he said, there was considerable pressure on the parks committee to reduce the amount payable by the company.

"Over the intervening years, the individual aldermen have been subject to intense pressure [illegible] again it appears that we are carrying a losing venture for the whole of Greater Victoria."

Ald. William Pinfold felt that the city had made a contract with the company and must live up to it, but Ald. Skillings contended the company had defaulted by not paying its rent for last year.

Ald. Skillings then questioned the sale of the company's concession rights to a Vancouver firm for $10,000. He said he could never remember it being approved by council.

CLAUSE VIOLATION

In a separate letter, Mr. Warren claimed the sale "is in violation of clause 16 of the company's agreement with the city dated Oct. 26, 1949, in which 'The lessee covenants that it will not assign or sub-let this agreement or any part thereof to any person or corporation except that it shall first obtain in writing the consent of the lessor to such assignment or sub-letting'."

Meanwhile, the baseball club has asked that its $1,821.05 debt to the city be reduced and the unpaid balance extended a season.

(The letter did not go before the executive committee yesterday and did not prompt the discussion.)

In a letter to Mayor Claude L. Harrison, directors of the baseball company said they "were unfortunate last year through lack of attendance in being unable to meet our obligations."

PAID IN SHARES

They said most of the other creditors had agreed to accept company shares as whole or part payment and leave the rest owing until completion of the new season.

Company officials noted that they had spent $17,000 on stands, bleachers and "other expenditures" and $10,000 on lights.

"It is true that we are a company and that the money subscribed in shares has been by public-spirited citizens with no idea of return, their only interest being in the promotion of sport in the city of Victoria," the letter said.

Amazes Defense Board

Hospital Position On Power "Shock"

Members of the Greater Victoria Civil Defense Board expressed surprise yesterday to hear that no city hospital was equipped with auxiliary power equipment.

"I'm amazed," said chairman Mayor Claude L. Harrison. "This is the most serious thing I've heard yet."

Civil Defense Co-ordinator Leonard Hatcher said it was "bit of a shock" to him when he received word from the three major city hospitals that none was equipped to operate its own power system should general power fail.

"I'm inclined to think this is a precaution any hospital should take," Mr. Hatcher said.

Feeling of the meeting was that if any place should be equipped to deal with emergency power failure, certainly a hospital should in the event of war emergency.

Reeve P. A. Gibbs suggested that the feelings of civil defense authorities be made known to the hospital officials. If they can do nothing about the situation, then perhaps the senior governments should be approached, he said.

Big Three Say Germany Agrees to Defense Bill

LISBON, Feb. 26 (AP)—West Germany has agreed to pay out 11,250,000,000 marks ($2,679,000,000) a year to help bolster western defenses against Communist aggression, the big three foreign ministers announced today.

The British, United States and French ministers also sent orders to their high commissioners in Germany to start talks for unleashing many of the country's war industries.

The two steps open the way further for linking of West Germany's vast resources of men and machines to the Allied arms buildup.

Britain's Anthony Eden, France's Robert Schuman and Dean Acheson of the U.S., headed home tonight from one of the most business-like Allied parleys since the war.

A spokesman for the three said [illegible] marks of the West German defense contribution would be used for internal defense, such as frontier guards and defense of Communist-ringed Berlin.

In Bonn, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government announced it had accepted the proposed total "with reservations." It contended that if West Germany's gross income should fall below the 107,300,000,000 marks forecast by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, it should be allowed to appeal for a lower assessment.

Diplomatic informants in Lisbon agreed that it was no more than a general accord." Many troublesome details will have to be worked out by Allied and German officials.

This, broadly, is what it looks like:

The German defense budget—at the rate of 850,000,000 marks a month and effective July 1—will be lumped into the funds of the projected six-country European defense community, of which Germany is to be a member.

E.D.C. will divide it up—two ways:

About 70 per cent will be paid out to help support British, U.S. and French troops in Germany.

About 30 per cent will be paid out to run German forces, to gear up German factories to military production and to cover the numerous items that crop up when a military machine begins to move.

Change-Over Under Way In Korea

TOKYO, Feb. 26 (CP)—First steps toward effecting the changeover between units in Korea and those coming from Canada to relieve them have taken place.

Advance parties from the 2nd battalions Royal Canadian Regiment, Royal 22nd Regiment and 2nd Regiment Royal Horse Artillery and "C" Squadron of the Lord Strathcona Horse have left Korea for Canada.

The change-over will be completed in June.

The parties now en route to Canada will arrange to take over quarters and equipment from the units now holding them and which are scheduled to leave for Korea shortly.

They comprise the second-in-command, the assistant adjutant and the regimental quartermaster-sergeant of each unit with the exception of the Vandoos, who have retained their second-in-command for field duties.

In charge of the parties are Major Jack Peterson, St. Thomas, Ont. (R.C.R.), Major Ben Lacasse, Montreal (Royal 22nd), Major Jack Orton, Shilo, Man. (R.C.H.A.) and Capt. Ken. Kennedy, Halifax (Lord Strathcona Horse).

Pill May Cure Dread Disease

In this little pill, physicians hope they have a cure for tuberculosis. The pill, one of two types developed at Seaview hospital, New York, will be tested in Canadian hospitals as soon as its action on TB patients is definitely established. At Seaview, patients taking the pill gained weight, showed a reduction in fever and lost most of the symptoms of the disease.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Oath for Massey Planned Thursday

OTTAWA, Feb. 26—(CP)—Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey will be sworn in Thursday as Canada's first native-born governor-general with the traditional ceremony that surrounds the installation of the sovereign's personal representative.

The government, disclosing details of the ceremony today, issued an official program which closely parallels that of the installation in 1946 of Mr. Massey's predecessor, Field Marshal Viscount Alexander.

The ceremony will take place at 11 a.m. E.S.T. in the stately, gold-roofed chamber of the senate, with high representatives of state and judiciary in attendance.

There, Mr. Massey will take three oaths, receive the Great Seal of Canada and issue his personal proclamation that he has taken office. Later Thursday, he will preside at the opening of the 1952 session of parliament, reading the traditional Speech from the Throne.

A guard of honor will be drawn up before the parliament buildings and a royal 21-gun artillery salute sounded.

Tonight State Secretary Bradley and other government officials left the capital aboard a special train for Fort Hope, Ont., where Mr. Massey is at his private residence. They will escort him to Ottawa as governor-general designate.

Prime Minister St. Laurent will board the train to greet Mr. Massey and will present members of the federal cabinet, the speakers of the Commons and the Senate, leaders of other political parties and the mayors of Ottawa and neighboring Hull, Que.

Within the Senate Chamber, Mr. Massey will be sworn by Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin, as the senior puisne judge of the supreme court.

Youthful Addicts No Problem

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (CP)—Canada has "a handful" of teen-age dope addicts, but no major problem in this field, a health department narcotics officer said today.

While the department has no official information on reported outbreaks of teen-age addiction in the United States, there have been no cases in Canada "of young people being approached on the way home from school and being offered marijuana or other drugs."

The official was elaborating on a reference in the health department's annual report for the year ended March 31 last which said there appeared to be a lowering in the average age of new addicts.

"A number have come to the attention of enforcement officers who were in their early 20s and some in their teens," it added.

Actually of an estimated 4,000 addicts in Canada in the period under review, only two or three were teen-agers. Since then, a "similar number" of others had developed.

In no case, said the spokesmen, had addiction developed among well-adjusted young persons. All were cases where the teen-ager already was a juvenile delinquent and had turned to dope because of psychic problems.

"They were cases resulting from broken homes," he added. "Each case had a history which included a jail record."

Darkened Room Yields Grim Tale

BRISTOL, England, Feb. 26 (AP)—Police broke into an old house on narrow Somerset Street today and discovered a secret which three prim old ladies had kept for more than a quarter-century.

In a locked room with windows boarded up, they found a man of about 40 cowering in a corner. He was almost nude, his beard was three feet long and his hair hung down over his shoulders.

All 12 rooms in the house were carpeted thick with dust. Fine Sheraton and Chippendale furniture was falling to pieces. Dogs, cats, pigeons, parrots and canaries were in almost every room. In a bedroom was a mattress stuffed with pound notes and coins.

In an upper room police reported finding Miss Louise Tucker, 84, whose cries of "murder" had caused them to break in.

Police said neither Miss Tucker nor the man believed to be her nephew was able to tell their story. Investigation developed, however, that Louise lived in the house with her two spinster sisters, Clara and Rose.

Almost 30 years ago, the boy came to live with them. Neighbors who asked were told he was their nephew and that his name was Harry Tucker.

Harry was put in school but was taken out and neighbors never saw him again.

None of the neighbors ever was inside the house. Groceries and milk were always left outside.

Clara died last year and Rose followed a few months later.

Police took the man to a mental institution, where he was certified as insane.

Louise was put in a home for the aged, where a nurse said she muttered incessantly: "Where's Harry? Where's Harry?"

Police said they were baffled by the cry of "murder" that brought them to the house.

Wage Demand May Close Mainland Firm

VANCOUVER, Feb. 26 (CP)—Sweeney Cooperage, a pioneer Vancouver business, may be closed because of union wage demands.

Leo M. Sweeney, president of the company, said today more than half of the staff of 95 was laid off Monday after International Woodworkers of America (C.C.L.) rejected a majority conciliation board proposal.

"We might close down altogether. We certainly can't pay the wages they're asking this year which amounts to about seven times what we've made in the last seven years."

The union rejected, and the company accepted, a conciliaton board proposal for a profit-sharing scheme to distribute ½ of the net profit after taxes.

Sweeney said labor costs are about 45 per cent of the finished product.

Calgary Housewives Advised To Expect Beef Price Drop

CALGARY, Feb. 26 (CP)—Housewives can expect a drop in the price of beef about next Monday a spokesman for the retail trade said here today.

He pointed out the current drop in producer to wholesaler beef prices would come into effect about that time. For the rest of this week retailers will be paying high prices for the beef which was purchased by the packing houses before the announcement that the dread hoof-and-mouth disease had broken out in the Regina area.

Today prices at the stock yards ranged from $1 to $2 lower following similar setbacks Monday. The run of cattle was very light as producers held back to let the market solidify.

Dr. H. C. Storey, of the federal department of agriculture, reported this afternoon that no cases of hoof-and-mouth or stomatitis had been uncovered to date in Alberta. Veterinarians are stationed at all packing plants and stock yards to watch for symptoms of the disease and cattle producers are asked to notify a veterinarian if they see any unusual symptoms in their cattle.

Directors of the Alberta Cattle Breeders' Association will meet at the Calgary Stampede and Exhibition office Saturday morning to review the implications of the outbreak.

ESPIONAGE DWARF

Richebourg, who was only 23 inches high, was one of the smallest dwarfs who ever lived. He smuggled dispatches in and out of Paris during the French revolution, disguised as a baby in a nurse's arms. He was 90 years old when he died.

Bricklayers Seek Raise

VANCOUVER, Feb. 26 (CP)—Bricklayers here will seek wages of $3 an hour, an increase of 90 cents from the present scale.

The increase is being demanded by the American Federation of Labor Bricklayers' Union, representing about 175 workers.

Present contract with a $2.10 rate expires April 30.

Bricklayers claim the high increase is necessary because most of them only work six months a year and earn about $1,800.

Immigration Flow High

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 —(CP)—Canada brought in 194,391 new settlers during 1951 in her biggest immigration flow in 38 years.

The influx, 1½ per cent of the population, was the heaviest since 400,000 arrivals were admitted in 1913. It outstripped the 73,912 of 1950 and was well above the previous post war mark of 125,414 in 1948.

Immigration Minister Harris, disclosing the 1951 figures to the national advisory council on manpower, indicated a high rate of immigration would be continued for the next few months at least.

He expressed belief that the rate of arrivals could be based on an expectation of continued buoyant economic conditions for Canada.

The 1951 total of immigrants was made up of 114,786 workers—adding about two per cent to the working force—and 79,605 dependents.

While the minister assigned specifically no reason for the big 1951 jump, several factors operated through the year to contribute to it. These included more shipping facilities and government loan assistance in paying for passage.

Germans provided the largest single racial group—32,395 compared with 5,825 the year before.

The British Isles total increased by 134 per cent, going to 31,370 from 13,427. Of that number, 19,109 were English, 9,201 Scottish, 2,506 Irish and 554 Welsh.

Continental Northern Europe supplied 71,872 prospective Canadians, jumping 321 per cent from 17,060 in 1950. Next to the Germans, the largest single group from that area—19,130—were Netherlanders.

Italians accounted for 24,351, jumping from 9,059 and leading the way among racial origins outside the United Kingdom and the Northern Continent.

Among the immigrant groups of any size, the only one showing a drop—and that a slight one—was from the United States. Americans entering Canada fell off to 7,732 from 7,799.

Contrary to popular notions, the water in a fish bowl seldom should be changed or replenished, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Holdup Suspect Finds Radio Swifter Than Aerial Flight

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—A bad man of the air age fled a California bank robbery by transcontinental plane, only to drop into the arms of the Federal Bureau of Investigation today at LaGuardia Field—3,000 miles away.

F.B.I. men closed in on him to end in less than 15 hours a fantastic 300-mile-an-hour drama that unrolled far above the clouds, aboard an ultra-modern airliner speeding eastward.

He is John Richard Bayless, 36, an Alcatraz Prison alumnus who dresses and looks more like a banker than a once-convicted bank bandit.

But he totes a gun. He tried to pull it when he was seized here, after being tracked by radio along his coast-to-coast getaway flight.

Bayless was wanted for the $19,600 stickup yesterday morning of the Hollywood branch of the Bank of America.

"Bait money" from the banks—bills recorded by their serial numbers—helped trap him. This money had been kept on hand to pass over to anyone who might rob the bank.

F.B.I. agent Edward Scheidt said Bayless carried the loot in a cowhide brief case as he stepped down from a big, four-engined Trans-World Airlines plane at La-Guardia.

The bespectacled ex-convict was held in $100,000 bail for a federal extradition hearing March 20, after he refused to return voluntarily to California.

A check of airlines showed that a man named Bayless boarded a New York plane, paying his fare, the F.B.I. said, with some of the "bait money."

By now the big airliner was nearly 3,000 miles away. Bayless' description was radioed to the plane as it flew for La Guardia Field.

Hostess Joyce Eileen Starr, 21, took a peek at the passengers but most of them, including Bayless, were asleep and wrapped in blankets.

Twenty minutes from La Guardia the passengers came awake with the lights switched on and shook off their blankets. Hostess Starr spotted Bayless in seat No. 6.

There still was time to radio a quick description of the passenger to F.B.I. agents.

Gnomes, Little Men File Moon Claim

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 26 (INS)—Who controls the moon?

A group of Berkeley science-fiction fans disclosed today that this question of territorial jurisdiction has been put up to the United Nations.

To bring about the test the group has filed a claim for mining rights on a specified area of the moon with Oscar Schachter of the U.N. legal department.

The Berkeley group is organized under the name of "The Elves, Gnomes and Little Men's Science Fiction, Chowder and Marching Society," but is serious in this jurisdictional test.

Chairman Lester Cole said:

"We're genuinely interested in seeing what the reaction of the U.N. will be to such a claim."

Cole insisted that the problem will become a serious one "in a few years" because of the advances made in rocket tests in the past 10 years.

The mining claim asks rights for a survey area of the moon's surface roughly 73 miles long by 30 miles wide not far from the centre.

The mineral the group wants to dig up, if and when any of them can get to the moon, is sylvanite, a crystalline compound containing both gold and silver which might "conceivably" occur in the designated area.

Oddities

MACON, Ga., Feb. 26 (AP).—Nick and Mira Lalich went on their honeymoon—yesterday after three days of getting married.

They had $9,000 as a starter, showered on them at the wedding reception last night. There was a slight fee for dancing with the bride.

Nick and Mira are members of the small, close-knit Serbian colony in the United States. Their wedding was something of a national event for American Serbs. About 500 of them came from all over—Detroit, Miami, New York—to get in on the fun. The ceremonies and parties covered three days.

An Upset for Canada

THE [illegible] of beef and pork on the overseas by which Canada's meat contracts overseas in the sterling area were, through one factor or another, gradually whittled down; the lifting of the Canadian embargo against the export of cattle to the United States, and the growing dependence of this country on such export regardless of the welfare of the Canadian consumers at home. At the moment it would seem that the United Kingdom market is much diminished, and largely by actions over which this country had some control; that the United States market is shut to us; and that Canada's meat production, including an exportable surplus, will have to be consumed at home. Whoever "panics" over that situation, it will not be the Canadian consumers, many of whom have gone without meat in their homes for a considerable period. These were the precedent conditions which put horseflesh on sale in this, a cattle raising country.

disease among animals, believed now to be confined within a 40 miles radius about Regina, is a serious development and none who know what it means will be disposed to regard it lightly. The Dominion and Saskatchewan are acting promptly to isolate the animals affected, and to trace the source of the infection. At best, however, it may be months before Canada recovers from this set-back on her home and foreign markets. Having conceded that, one is free to ponder on the strange irony of the case; an export embargo imposed upon Canada, which voluntarily lifted its own. This wholly unpredictable turn, one which by no stretch of imagination could have been predicted or guarded against, may have political as well as economic consequences.

There will be called sharply into question

The West "Stands To"

THE North Atlantic Treaty Organization has now been placed on a solid footing. A vast program of military defense against Communist aggression has been drafted, and a permanent headquarters will be set up in Paris under a secretariat, with the British ambassador to Washington, Sir Oliver Franks, invited to become the first secretary-general. Mr. L. B. Pearson was mentioned as likely for this post but fortunately for Canada, which cannot afford to lose his services, his selection was not made.

We shall be told by Soviet Russia that N.A.T.O. is being set up as a rival to the United Nations, and in a sense it is. Had the U.N. fulfilled the high hopes that sponsored it at San Francisco in 1945 there would have been no need for the North Atlantic Pact. As matters stand, however, and due mainly to Russia's perversion of the U.N., the western nations have been forced to seek other means of protecting themselves against the threat posed by Communist aggression. Hence the consolidation of N.A.T.O.

Necessary and vital though this is, however, such a permanent structure carries with it implications of disquiet. It suggests that N.A.T.O. must by its very nature be of extremely long term duration, which in turn means a steady drain on the economic and human resources of the west for purely defensive purposes. Probably few people have stopped to realize that the west, including this nation, is now committed to a course of action which will see it "standing to" for an indefinite length of time, perhaps years to come.

What happens when, given time to reach its goal, N.A.T.O. has at its command the armies and jet squadrons now in blueprint stage only? How are these to be maintained, year after year if necessary, at top peak without actual employment? These are long-range questions, and the immediate need is to arm strongly lest disaster strikes, but they carry their own disconcerting doubts. N.A.T.O. is not a peace organization, and complementary with it the west will somehow have to strive for a state of affairs which will end the "stand to" now properly being invoked.

Alberta Gets One Jump Ahead

IN the motor vehicle statutes and regulations of the two western-most provinces there is a peculiar difference which, in the case of Alberta, will shortly be removed. British Columbia sets rigid standards of physical fitness for drivers, who must pass tests to qualify for a first license and undergo periodic re-examination thereafter. British Columbia, however, does not require inspection of vehicles as a regular routine for the prevention of accidents. Alberta on the other hand has a vehicle testing system, but in that province up to now it has been as easy to buy a driver's license as a dog license.

The Alberta government is about to change that. Legislation is to be brought down at the current session to make it compulsory for tests to be taken by applicants for new driving licenses and by drivers involved in accidents; and there are indications that the plan will be expanded later, possibly on the lines of the system in force here. The announcement by the Alberta government described this as "a further step to greater highway safety."

The Alberta government thus has taken two steps to British Columbia's one. The program of accident prevention in this province has been encouragingly progressive, but remains incomplete so long as vehicles with defective brakes, steering and other equipment affecting safety can be used with impunity. It is not good enough to rely on regulations which make it an offense to drive mechanically defective vehicles, for ninety-nine times out of a hundred the regulations are invoked only after someone has been injured.

If British Columbia is to have a really effective code of accident prevention it needs a province-wide system of vehicle testing, with penalties for those who neglect to attend to defects which periodic inspections bring to light. This is something that should be taken up at the first session after the general election.

SWEEPSTAKES

Sir,—Now that the government has consented, under pressure, and with an election in the offing, to have a "simply worded" plebiscite on the liquor question, why not kill two birds with one stone and have a "simply worded" plebiscite on the holding of sweepstakes in aid of recognized charities or public institutions? It would cost no more and would give the public a chance to express its opinion, instead of as at present, being subject to the whim (or fear) of the individual M.L.A.'s. . .

EARTH TREMORS

Sir,—My scientific interest in this subject was greatly stimulated by happening to be in San Francisco on April 18, 1906. The horror of that catastrophe was due mainly to the fact that the rift or line of rupture passed near a crowded city whose complex life was promptly disorganized by the breaking of gas pipes and the ignition of the escaping gas by short-circuited electric wires. The rupture of water pipes prevented the extinction of the numerous fires. When it was all over, the ruins of San Francisco were not black, but grey, as if they were ancient. The heat of the conflagration had been so intense that anything made of wood was completely consumed, and even iron was partly melted.

The recent earth tremors in Victoria have brought all this to my mind.

We look upon the earth underfoot as solid and we rely upon it to give us a safe footing; when therefore the surface vibrates, the shock to our confidence causes intense alarm. In and about San Francisco many people thought that the end of the world had come, and some of them became insane.

The area of destructive effects caused by the earthquake was 50 miles wide and 400 miles long. It was not a localized disaster. Along the rift there was maximum damage. A horizontal displacement of as much as 20 feet was observed along roads. Pipes, conduits and bridges were rent asunder. Fissures opened in the earth, and in one of them a cow was engulfed.

Our tremors here in Victoria belong to another phase of seismic activity. They are not of the kind that does much, if any, damage. The earth is like an apple that is drying, the skin shrinks and cracks. So also the crust of the earth is adjusting itself to a shrinking interior. This causes strains, which are relieved by earth tremors. If not relieved, an earthquake may ensue.

The tremors we have felt in recent days are of the minor kind, and can be regarded as preventing major movement of the ground under our feet and under our houses. Indeed, they constitute a factor of safety. There exists, I believe, no ground for alarm on Vancouver Island.

ELECTION PROSPECTS

Sir,—Neither Premier Johnson nor Mr. Anscomb seemed very convincing when they tried to explain the Coalition break-up. The premier seemed particularly weak when he said it was caused by a press release by Mr. Anscomb, something that has been done many times before.

One can infer from Mr. Anscomb's speech that he was very happy with the Coalition as it was. This view may very well be justified, from the Conservative viewpoint at least, after the election.

Both leaders say the rump government has no mandate to carry on. In fact most people had lost confidence in the actual Coalition long before it cracked. Mr. Johnson was faced with revolt in his own party because of it. Mr. Anscomb seemed to help this by publicly suggesting that Coalition would end soon anyway.

So each side, the rump and the brains (Mr. Anscomb's words), jockeyed for a politically favorable time to cast the other adrift. It certainly appears that Mr. Johnson caught his Conservative opposition unawares when he fired the finance minister, thus ending Coalition.

Only a very rash person would predict the election's outcome, even though Mr. Anscomb stated very emphatically and very forcefully that he would be the next premier. There are so many splinter groups and parties that the outcome will certainly be very interesting. Will we be forced into another Coalition?

Thinking Aloud

IN a sense the good name of the veterans' hospital here is its undoing. Every ex-serviceman would like to get into it when he falls sick, so humanitarian is its operation. But since concrete walls are not elastic there have to be regulations.

That much granted, however, it is a shame that room cannot be made for the 85-year-old pensioner from Duncan who wants to spend his last few months in the company of old soldiers, a factor that makes the D.V.A. hospital the blessed haven it is. Something is wrong that bars a veteran simply because his active service precedes the Boer War, and no such dividing line should ever have been erected.

The regulations are not made here, of course, but in Ottawa. But some discretion should be left to local authorities to make exceptions as they see fit. I hope the last has not been heard of this case.

So the Athletics are no more and the Tyees have taken their place, the idea being that a new name will symbolize a new deal and perhaps a new diamond pattern in 1952. This is not to object, merely to observe that no tyee are caught in Victoria waters whereas cohoe are, and that "Come on, the Cohoes" slips off the tongue more neatly that "Come on, the Tyees." But of course a tyee is a bigger salmon than a cohoe and perhaps the bigger the aim the bigger will be the victories.

Spent an hour or two in Sidney last Saturday afternoon, and ran into a citizen of that community I see only once in a blue moon. Whereupon he promptly tackled me for never mentioning Sidney in this column, a regrettable omission hereby gladly rectified. A fine bustling little town, throbbing with life as I saw it, and if all its people are as loyal as my barber friend it's no wonder it goes ahead. He fell in love with it as an airman at Pat Bay during the war, and went back afterwards to make it his home.

A single cow may not be cattle in a local courtroom, although if a single head strolled into these sacred precincts I doubt it would be thought either vegetable or mineral. I trust law is not to be linked too closely to dictionaries, however, legal language being sufficiently frozen as it is. Incidentally, the Oxford tome might consider cattle to be too singular to be singular, but other lexicons take a different view. Funk and Wagnalls says of cattle, quite distinctly: a noun singular and plural. So does the Century Dictionary and Cyclopedia. The defending lawyer was smart, though, in the case in question.

What virtue is there is in such a character as Dillinger that he should have a movie made of his life, whether accurate or imaginary? Motion picture makers must be hard up for subjects when they seek to perpetuate a public enemy whose memory is better left where it is—in the grave. Obviously the only reason is the morbid sensationalism that fascinates Hollywood and results in far too many movies of the gangster type.

More refreshing is the story of Clyde Lamb, ex-gunman convict who drew his way to freedom. With 25 years in an Indiana penitentiary stretching ahead for him he began to study cartoon drawing, and after a long and laborious apprenticeship broke into the big-time magazine field. This so impressed his captors he was given a new trial and a suspended sentence. Now he is a successful cartoonist and a respectable citizen. More power to his crayons.

Apropos the recipe for Atholl Brose I gave the other day, a reader wants to know how to make mead. I don't know anything about this honey liquor except that Attila the Hun is supposed to have died from overindulgence in it at a banquet celebrating his marriage. Trying to find out, though, I discovered that ancient Germans drank mead for thirty days after every wedding, which gave rise to the expression "honey moon," moon being month. Perhaps some other reader can supply the wanted recipe.

Red Resurgence in Italy

By JOHN P. LEACACOS, from Rome

THE development in Italy that shocks visitors who thought that the Communists were licked to a frazzle is the resurgence of Red political strength. In the approaching local elections in southern Italy, the Reds are widely expected to make strong gains in territory hitherto alien to them.

How does it come? Here are the paradoxical reasons:

First, Italy's Communists no longer are a revolutionary force. They could not stage armed uprisings unless Russian troops were right in back of them. Italy's 82,000 security police are too tough and too smart. Every last man of them carries a burp gun, and is trained in anti-guerrilla and anti-sabotage tactics.

Second, Italian Communists no longer are strong enough to descend into the piazzas to whirl up labor unrest and general strikes. The workers won't stand losing an hour's pay for Kremlin political slogans, so there has not been a shot fired in anger or a real labor fuss for two years.

Third, and this is the big "but" in the matter, the Communist party of Italy definitely is stronger as a legal political force because of this very "peaceful" stance. It was a victory for cagey Palmiro Togliatti, Red boss here, and reputed to be the slickest Communist in Europe, over his trigger-happy comrades, Luigi Longo and Pietro Secchia.

The Togliatti strategy of "Distenzione"—"Let's live and let live"—has been getting results where the strong-arm squads failed. The Reds repeat blandly that they want alliances with all men of good will on behalf of "work and peace". They no longer force sympathizers to become official converts. They don't abuse the bourgeoisie.

In brief, Togliatti is wooing the middle class. His Reds play right down the middle of the Italian masses' complacent blind spot that Italian Communism is only another domestic issue, more or less "harmless". It's a bit like the "agrarian reformers" of Chinese Mao Tse-Tung used to be to some Americans.

The precise methods follow the classic Red line of being all things to all men. To the miserably poor of this historically impoverished land, they offer the succor of "big brothers". To the shrewd and prosperous, but greedy, tenant farmers they paint a mirage of more and more land. To the fatuously idealistic white-collar class they give a promise of universal brotherhood in Utopia.

Here are examples of their non-stop virtuosity:

Religion—To the deeply rooted Catholics down south the Reds mildly insist that they are not against the church, but only for economic betterment. In northern Italy (where anti-clericalism is strong because of papal misrule a century ago) there are no holds barred against the priests.

Civil marriages and funerals (that is, without religious services) in Emilia, are celebrated noisily. Infants are "baptized" in taverns at wine parties. In Tuscany, there are schools of atheism. At Empoli, near Florence, they hold swearing competitions. The best blasphemers get prizes. Protestant missionary activities on the Riviera and around Rome are exploited. The Reds tell wayward Catholics to join the "free" church.

Economics—The party, despite its Russian line, never dared to stop workers from employment in Marshall Plan plants, or even now in defense production, but systematically, through every depressed area, running from the treeless mountain valleys and marshes of the north to the arid hills and plains of the south, the Reds preach discontent with the slow-motion measures of the hard-pressed de Gasperi government.

If the government does succeed in a reform, or in putting men to work, the Reds claim credit for it. "We made them do it." To the landless, getting plots for the first time, the Reds advise: "Don't take it. You'll have to pay. We'll get it for you free." Most workers can afford only one newspaper a day. Usually it's Unita, the Communist organ, so they never learn the other side of the story.

Welfare—The Communists create so many social activities that a family in a working-class neighborhood would be ostracized if it didn't join the gang. The Reds offer an elaborate system of sanatoria, summer camps, kindergartens, soup kitchens, legal aid, loans, maternity centres, adult education, medical help and relief clothing. The Red Union of Italian Women (U.D.I.) does most of this work.

Youth—Children of Communist parents in stricken areas are sent into the care of "activist" families in wealthier places. In many communes, where shortage of schools forces two to four shifts of attendance, the Reds grab the kids after their two hours' schooling is over, and pump them full of Stalinist amusements. Adolescents, jobless and dispirited, are organized into clubs by the Red Pioneer Association (A.P.I.).

Finally, there are three constant sources of party strength: unemployment in Italy is closer to 4,000,000 than the 2,000,000 officially admitted. Hundreds of thousands live eight to ten in a room, as can be seen any day in Primavalle or any other of the 23 slum areas here. And, every year, 500,000 youths leave school to enter the big world and a bleak future.

Recovery in Japan

(From The Printed Word)

RAPID industrial recovery by Japan after complete defeat in war is praiseworthy. It is a tribute to the occupation forces as well as to the known tenacity of the Japanese people. But it presents what may be one of the most difficult problems the Western world will face in the next decade or so.

Western manufacturing industries, and the men and women whose employment depends on the well being of those industries, have no cause for rejoicing in the fact that once more the "Made in Japan" label is appearing in quantity on store counters in Britain, the United States and Canada.

Basis of the difficulty lies in the difference in wages paid Japanese workers and wages paid their British, American or Canadian counterparts. To illustrate, the average Japanese manufacturing employee earns less than one-tenth of the amount paid a Canadian on an equivalent job. The fact that the living standard of that Japanese is comparatively higher than ever before does not alter the fact that the product he turns out can sell at a price ridiculously lower than a comparable Canadian-made article.

One reason that the United States more or less favors the idea of granting favored-nation status (in the matter of tariffs) to Japan is that the impact of a flood of cheaply-made goods on the vast American domestic market would be comparatively slight. But that impact would become progressively heavier on the British economy and could well be disastrous to Canada. The United States believes in free trade for others.

There are people in this country who say that our market should be thrown open to Japan, to help that country's recovery and to give Canadian consumers access to the low-cost goods that country is able to produce.

Most of those people are in rural areas and are speaking for rural consumers. Farmers see no reason why they should pay higher prices for Canadian-produced articles when Japan is able to supply similar articles, although perhaps not of similar quality, at vastly lower prices.

Rural consumers, themselves producers of such things as food, which must be sold at fair prices if the producers are to be able to buy even the cheap goods Japan can supply, apparently have overlooked one fairly important fact. If urban workers have no jobs, they have no money, and so cannot buy the products of the land. If the working hours of city people are reduced, or their weekly pay cheques are cut because the plants they work for are affected by competition from Japan, or other low-wage countries, then prices of food products must drop to keep pace with the urban pocketbook.

The farmer, the primary producer, has a stake in the well-being of the city worker, for the city is his market. Japan could be exporting poverty to Canada.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

AN old schoolmate of mine, who has gone completely to pot through drink, describes his experience in terms of driving a motor car.

"My brakes," he says, "got worse and worse as time went along. I knew I was hitting up too hot a pace; but whenever I really needed them, the old brakes worked well enough, especially as I knew the trick of going into low gear, to help out the brakes.

"Then, one fine day, I found myself headed down a wrong road. I forget how I made the wrong turn. . . . But it got rougher and rougher, even when I went into low gear. So I decided to back up.

"I reached for my reverse gear. And there wasn't any! If you try to imagine what it would be like to go through the motions of letting your car into reverse, only to find there isn't any, you will realize the way I felt."

This man is one of thousands of our generation who learned to drink as a soldier in the first war, and whose service in the second war, not overseas but honorable and valuable, did not improve his condition. All through his life, both his family and friends have winked at his hitting the bottle in the opinion that it was one aspect of the manly thing.

Whether his life would have been happier if family and friends had taken strenuous measures to interfere with his drinking is another matter. He doesn't think so. It is his view, he had a good time; and so did everybody else.

Only now, everybody is having anything but a good time watching him going down that side-road that grows rougher and rougher, with no reverse gear, hardly any brakes left, and his low gear just about worn out.

THE TUNE MACHINE

The London cable which appeared in yesterday's issue of this newspaper says that an English mathematics professor "forecasts" a machine electronically operated which will create tunes. That word "forecasts" puzzles us. After listening to the radio and the juke box it has been our impression that such a machine had long ago been constructed and was in full operation. Are we to believe that someone sits down and deliberately composes those things that come to our ears? Our suspicion that the machine already exists is heightened by the professor's advice that it would make only very bad tunes. Our thought had been that the man who operated the thing had just forgotten to oil it.

Winch to Force Power Issue

C.C.F. leader Harold Winch hopes to force a discussion of B.C. Power Commission contracts and the Buttle Lake damming issue onto the floor of the Legislature next week.

Mr. Winch yesterday said he understood the public is paying what amounts to a subsidy for industrial power users of power commission energy.

He said the only way he can find out if this claim is true or false would be to have the commission's contracts tabled in the House.

A notice of motion from Mr. Winch was on the order paper, asking the government to file with the Legislature all contract rates for the supply of electrical energy to industrial firms on the Island.

Arts Centre Board Due

Mayor Claude L. Harrison and the reeves of three surrounding municipalities will meet soon to plan the setting up of an inter-municipal board of trustees to

The question was aired yesterday at a meeting of the city council executive committee following a decision by City Manager Cecil Wyatt to stop work on the grounds pending the formation of such a board.

"Do you think it's good business to go ahead without an inter-municipal board?" asked Mayor Harrison.

"Yes, I do," replied Mr. Wyatt.

B.C. Needs Ministers

More ministers are needed for United Church work in British Columbia, the Victoria Presbytery of the United Church was told last night.

Rev. F. E. Runnalls of Armstrong, president of the B.C. Conference of the United Church, told the audience at Victoria West United Church that B.C. originally was a missionary province and still remains a missionary field for church work.

Of the church generally, Rev. Runnalls said there was a great need for all church members to work for the church rather than just a few. He also stressed the need to make the church relevant to daily work.

The conference today will hear reports on home missions, committees and election of officers.

The meeting will begin at 9.30.

Dime Shower Vital to Health Of Many Crippled Children

The number 13 is going to be lucky for some crippled children this year, if British Columbians can spare a dime.

This year is the 13th annual Shower of Dimes in aid of the patients in Queen Alexandra Solarium, some of whom must spend long periods of time in the hospital and some of whom are far from home.

Majority of cases treated in the solarium are long term, requiring many months or even years of treatment. Many children have had two or three years' treatment.

B.C. Hospital Insurance gives partial coverage for the first 30 days, and other sources of hospital revenue include a government grant, payment from parents where possible, and generosity of citizens.

Children are admitted from all parts of the province, up to the age of 12, regardless of race, color, creed, or the ability of parents to pay for hospitalization.

About 70 patients are discharged each year, either greatly improved or completely cured.

Prayer Book Changes Likely To Be Costly

Expected changes in the Anglican "Book of Common Prayer" in the aftermath of the death of King George VI may cost Canadian publishers a small fortune.

A publisher's representative in Victoria said yesterday some firms had large stocks of the prayer books on hand in which the form "Our Sovereign Lord, King George," is used.

Also mentioned in prayers are "Our Gracious Queen Elizabeth, Mary, the Queen Mother, the Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh."

It is expected that wording of the prayers will now have to be changed to name the present Royal Family.

Since the text of the Book of Common Prayer is always printed in England and only the binding done here, the change-over in the prayer books looms as a major job.

Value of individual prayer books was quoted from $1.35 to $9.75.

City Looks Into Business Tax Levy

City council executive committee has authorized City Manager Cecil Wyatt to investigate the business tax levy as compared to the present trades license in the city.

A letter from A. H. Weltin suggesting the implementing of the business tax was referred to the manager along with suggestions from members of the committee.

Mr. Wyatt said a full report on the matter would require "concentrated study" and suggested that to bring it to a concrete basis would require "an individual who is very conversant with this type of work."

Ald. Waldo Skillings quoted a Vancouver alderman as saying that the tax in the Mainland city was "very fair" and netted the city a great deal of money.

Ald. William Pinfold said he agreed to authorizing the manager to make initial investigations but it was "not fair" to of setting up the entire schedule.

It was suggested that perhaps the research department of the Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, to which the city belongs, could supply statistics on the matter.

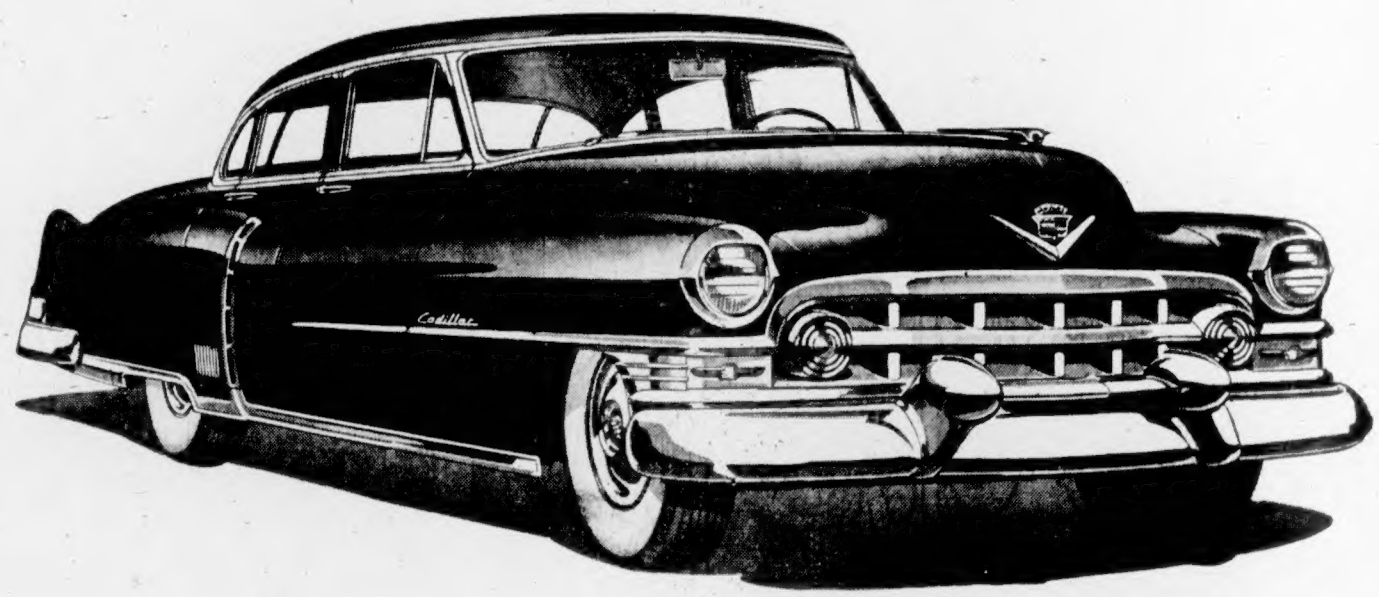
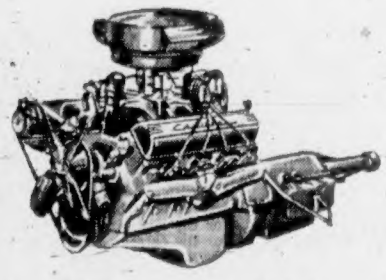
1902 1952
Announcing the Golden Anniversary—
Cadillac



...WITH THE FINEST PERFORMANCE OF ALL TIME!

Featuring 3 of Cadillac's Greatest Engineering Achievements!



THE NEW 190 H. P. CADILLAC ENGINE

Here is the most powerful, the most durable, and the most efficient automotive engine ever offered in a Cadillac car. Its power increase alone is almost 20%—and its new four-throated carburetor, larger exhaust valves, wider exhaust ports and new dual exhaust system make this engine one of the most dynamic performers of all time.

Fifty years ago, the first Cadillac car made its bow to the public. Today, as a fitting climax to those fifty years of progress, we are presenting in our showrooms the Golden Anniversary Cadillac—by far the finest car ever to bear this distinguished name . . . It is easily the most beautiful of all Cadillacs. Numerous changes have sharpened and smartened the exterior design—while the wholly-new interiors are a revelation in comfort and luxury. Inside and outside—it's the world's new standard for distinction . . . Performance is the finest of all time. The great Cadillac engine has a power increase of almost twenty per cent—and is even smoother and quieter in its operation . . . There's a new Hydra-Matic Drive that gives the proper power application for every need. At a flick of the finger, you can have extra power and acceleration for city traffic and mountain driving—or wonderfully smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road . . . And there's a new "power steering" mechanism, optional at extra cost, which reduces normal steering effort by as much as seventy-five per cent! . . . If ever it could be said of a car's performance that it is "out of this world," it can be said of the performance of the new Cadillac. It is truly magnificent in every respect . . . The Golden Anniversary Cadillac is available in three separate series—the beautiful "Sixty-Two," the luxurious "Sixty Special" and the distinguished "Seventy-Five." . . . See Cadillac on display in our showroom at your earliest convenience. We think you'll agree that, in celebrating this "year among years" in its history, Cadillac has produced what will long be remembered as a "car among cars"!

THE NEW HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

By introducing an entirely new performance range, Cadillac's Hydra-Matic now provides the proper power for every need . . . extra acceleration and responsiveness for traffic and mountain driving; smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. Standard equipment on the Series 62 and 60 Special, optional at extra cost on Series 75.

THE NEW CADILLAC POWER STEERING

This "power steering" mechanism eliminates as much as seventy-five per cent of all normal steering effort. It provides hydraulic assistance that is graduated to fit the difficulty of the particular steering manoeuvre. It does not interfere in any way with the driver's "road feel" or directional control. Available as an option at extra cost.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S GARDEN

One day Uncle Wiggily looked out from a window in his hollow stump bungalow and said:

"I think it is time to make it now."

"Make what?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. The muskrat lady housekeeper was sitting in the same room with Mr. Longears. But Nurse Jane was not looking out of a window. She was mending some holes in Uncle Wiggily's socks. "What is it time to make?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy as she looked at the clock on the wall.

"Make my garden," answered Uncle Wiggily. He twinkled his pink nose happy like.

"Make a garden this time of year?" exclaimed the muskrat lady. This time she looked out of the window and went on: "It is much too early. Why, the ground is covered with snow! How can you make a garden now, Mr. Longears?"

"I didn't exactly mean that I am going to dig up the ground and plant seeds," answered the rabbit gentleman. "I know it is too early for that. And it is true that the ground is covered with snow. But at least I can start on my garden."

"Oh, I see what you mean," spoke Nurse Jane as she went on darning the sock. "You are going to get out a seed book and pick out ffe different things you want to plant in your garden when the weather gets warmer and the snow melts. That's all right, Mr. Longears. I will help you look in the seed book as soon as I finish this sock."

"You don't quite understand, Nurse Jane," said Uncle Wiggily politely.

"What don't I understand?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"You don't understand, Nurse Jane," went on Uncle Wiggily, "that I am really going out in the back yard and start my spring garden, even though it is early and there is snow on the ground."

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" suddenly laughed the muskrat lady, "Ha! Ha! Ha!"

"What are you laughing at?" asked Uncle Wiggily. He had started to hop out of the room. But when he heard the muskrat lady laughing he turned around and looked at her. "What are you laughing at, Nurse Jane?"

"At you and your joke! Ha! Ha! Ha!" chuckled Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "You are so funny, Mr. Longears! The idea of starting a garden when there is snow on the ground! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

"This is no joke, and I may be funny but I don't feel so," said the rabbit uncle. "I am quite serious. Perhaps I should explain."

"I wish you would."

"I wish you would," said Nurse Jane, picking up another sock that needed mending. "How can you start your garden in the snow?"

"Perhaps I should not have said that I am going to really start my garden," continued Mr. Longears. "You know, Nurse Jane, that my garden is laid out in beds. There is one bed for the cabbage, another bed for the lettuce, another bed for the carrots and so on."

"Yes, I know that, Uncle Wiggily. Your garden beds are always nicely laid out in rows and paths, even and straight."

"Well, that is what I am going to do now," said Uncle Wiggily as he put on his extra fur coat and fur hat with a feather duster tail hanging down the back like Daniel Boone. "I am just going to mark out, on top of the snow, the different garden beds. One bed for the cabbage, another bed for the lettuce and a third bed for the carrots. I am going out now and mark, in the snow, the places for the different beds. Then, when spring comes, I will plant the seeds on the garden beds. Well, here I go. You can watch me from the window."

As Uncle Wiggily started to hop from his hollow stump bungalow to go out in his snow covered garden, Nurse Jane suddenly called:

"Come back, Uncle Wiggily! Come back! You can't lay out your garden beds now. Come back!"

Why did Nurse Jane want Uncle Wiggily to come back? I will tell you in tomorrow's story, if the soup spoon doesn't try to play golf with the hard-boiled egg and shoot it into the coffee pot.

Culbertson on Bridge - - -

(Copyright 1952, by Ely Culbertson)

Many a declarer has been fooled by apparently having more tricks than he needs. In such cases, he is apt to "relax" and that is often a fatal action at the bridge table.

West opened the queen of spades. Declarer took one pleased glance at the board, saw that he would have either of two suits, diamonds or clubs, to work with, and promptly laid down the ace and king of clubs to test that suit. When West failed, discarding a low diamond, South had no choice but to go after the diamond suit, but since the missing king and jack were offside, this plan also came to grief. Before South could establish and cash extra club or diamond tricks, East had knocked out declarer's second spade stopper.

It is fair to say that many excellent players would go astray just as South did in this case. They would not take the time to figure out the precise "percentages" involved. If they did, they would reach the following conclusion:

The line of play which will take care of all contingencies that can be covered is to lay down only one top club, then to lead a diamond to the ace, then to return a club from dummy. If East follows suit to the second club, declarer can assure himself of four tricks in the suit by playing low from his own hand (if East has also played low); and if, by chance, it is West who has four clubs with both honors, the fact is revealed by East's showing out. In that case, of course, declarer puts up his high club and shifts back to diamonds. He will then succeed in establishing the diamond suit if the honors are divided between the defenders. He may have to make a good guess in the diamond suit under certain circumstances, but at least he will have given himself the greatest possible chance.

Victoria Family Keeps Busy With Young Basketball Players

It's been a busy winter for Hank and Mary Casilio and May Peden, Mrs. Casilio's sister. Trio have been managing and coaching three girls' basketball teams and finding little spare time for other activities as result. Casilio is acting as manager of all three teams, Mrs. Casilio coaches two and Miss Peden one. Colonist cameraman Jim Ryan was on hand last night as teams worked out at Memorial gym. Team on extreme left is Arrow Furniture, intermediate "A" city and Island champions. It won titles without opposition but lost only two of about 12 exhibition games, and both those by one point. From left to right: Back row, Pat Wright, Chris Boyd, Joyce Johnson, Bev Hearn and Casilio. Front row, Catherine Macdonald, Terry Bombardier, Vera Sapala, Joan Gladson. Centre team is C. & C. Taxi, city and Lower Island Intermediate "B" champions who play Cumberland tonight in first game of Island final. From left to right: Back row, Verna Hearn, Mrs. Casilio, Marion Stevenson and Margaret Moss. Front row, Bev Koski, Louella Kalk, Pat Blair, Bev Ross, Gerry Koski and Ann Sprinkling. Team on left is Eaglettes, city junior champions who hold one-point edge over Saanichton in Lower Island final. From left to right: Back row, coach May Peden, Diane Winter, Marlene Pearce, Carolyn Copas, Marie Johnson and Joan Oldnall. Front row, Lois Snider, Loretta Mitchell, Pat Sinclair, Betty Jackson, Marlene Mitchell and Virginia Jay.

McKinnon Named Canadian Olympic Swimming Coach

By BRIAN O'CONNELL

Archie McKinnon has been selected by the Canadian Swimming Association, for the second straight time, as Canada's Olympic swimming coach.

The announcement was made in Toronto yesterday by Mrs. Edna Worth, association secretary. McKinnon's name will now be submitted to the Canadian Olympic Association for approval but this is believed to be only a matter of form.

TWO FOR VICTORIA

McKinnon's appointment brings further Olympic honors to Victoria. Bruce Humber was named track and field mentor earlier this year.

It is believed that this is the first time in Canadian Olympic history that two major coaches have been chosen from the same city. Track and field is the major sport of the Olympics, while swimming is considered second in importance.

FOURTH IS A ROW

This will mark the fourth successive Olympiad that the popular Y.M.C.A. physical director has attended. He unofficially coached the Canadian diving team in the 1932 Olympiad at Los Angeles, was officially appointed track and field coach for the Canadian team at Berlin in 1936 and was Canada's swimming coach in 1948 at London.

Although this is not a new honor to McKinnon he is just as excited as he was the first time. "It is too good to be true," he exclaimed following yesterday's appointment. "I won't believe it until I go."

A SURPRISE

He added that he didn't think he had much of a chance of landing the position after Humber was made track and field coach.

Humber, who was a member of McKinnon's track squad at Berlin, was just as enthusiastic about the nomination as his former coach.

"That's marvelous," he exclaimed when told of the news. "It will make my task so much easier. Now I can go to Archie for advice."

He added, "I'm happy to see that any politics that could have affected Archie's appointment have been overlooked in order to get the right man."

MISSED B.E. GAMES

McKinnon's nomination was made possible when Vancouver's Percy Norman declined the honor because of business reasons.

While he has coached in the past four Olympics, McKinnon has never had the distinction of directing a Canadian British Empire Games team. He was offered the track and field coaching job at the B.E. Games in New Zealand in 1938 but had to turn it down as they were held in the winter and he did not feel he could leave his duties at the "Y."

ALL-ROUNDER

McKinnon has had great success with swimming tuition and, in addition, coaches almost anything in the athletic realm. His record of having one or more athletes on the Olympic and British Empire teams representing Canada dates back to 1928.

Among the leading athletes McKinnon has instructed during his career are Joe Addison, Bill Dale, Lynn and Muzz Patrick, Hank Rowe, Art and Chuck Chapman, Humber, Lee Orr, Howie McPhee, Allan Poole and Syl Apps.

He regards Addison as the most outstanding. He says that Joe always came through with that little extra that he did not seem to have.

SCOTTISH-BORN

Born in Govan, now part of Glasgow, Archie attended Copeland Road School where he started his soccer and swimming. He arrived in Vancouver in 1911 and came to Victoria two years later.

His first interests in gymnastics began in Scotland. His father owned a store located next to the police gymnasium and McKinnon recalls the officers had to lift him up to the rings.

He played soccer for many teams in Victoria, including the Victoria West senior XI, and basketball for a British Columbia intermediate championship team. He graduated to the First Presbyterian senior team in 1918; then to the Y.M.C.A. quintette. He also played a few games with the Winnipeg Canoe Club against the famous Winnipeg Tollers, Canadian titleholders at that time.

McKinnon recalls that back in 1936, following his appointment as Olympic coach, Sid Thomas, late sports editor of The Colonist, [illegible] for his career. He has had two such climaxes since then and, if he continues at his present rate, will probably have many more.

Mrs. Worth also announced yesterday that Vancouver's brother and sister combination, Gerry and Kay McNamee, were named Canada's outstanding swimmers in 1951.

Gerry, 18, won the Sir Edward Beattie Trophy, and his 21-year-old sister was awarded the Beatrice Pines Trophy. Both won the awards in 1950.

Islanders Again Top Wheelers

NANAIMO, B.C., Feb. 26—Nanaimo Clippers made it three in a row over the faltering Vancouver Wheelers last night by dumping the mainland squad, 7-2, to take a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven Pacific Coast Senior Amateur Hockey League playoff.

Wheelers took the first two games 3-0 and 3-2, and then Nanaimo won 8-6 and 3-1 to tie the series.

Nanaimo had to come from behind twice. Al Rittinger put Wheelers ahead at 1:26 of the first period and after Red Carr had tied it up, Ferguson put them ahead again in the second period. Gordy Miller tied it up 12 seconds later and Culley scored what proved to be the winner at 12:45 of the second stanza with the first of two goals.

First period—1, Vancouver, Rittinger 1:26; 2, Nanaimo, Carr (Kirk, Culley) 19:31. Penalties, Brown, Mutchenson, Lynch, H. Lewis.

Second period—3, Vancouver, Ferguson (Vickery) 5:12; 4, Nanaimo, Miller (O'Hurley) 8:26; 5, Nanaimo, Culley (Kirk, Carr) 12:45. Penalties, Sims, Brown, Rittinger, Vickery.

Third period—6, Nanaimo, Culley (Kirk) 4:07; 7, Nanaimo, Berry (Gruhn, Brown) 7:45. Penalties, Kirk, Vickery, Defelice.

Next games, tonight: Victoria at Saskatoon, New Westminster at Tacoma.

Victoria Cougars put up a valiant scrap at Edmonton last night but couldn't quite overcome a 3-0 deficit and the Flyers almost extinguished their feebly-burning P.C.H.L. playoff hopes with a 4-3 victory.

Loss left the Cougars still needing 10 points to catch the sixth-place Vancouver Canucks—but with only 11 games left in which to do it. They finish their rugged road trip of four games in five nights at Saskatoon tonight, return home Friday to try conclusions with New Westminster.

After a shaky first period, the Cougars came to life and carried the play. They tried so hard in the third period that goalie Jerry Cotnoir only made one stop but he fanned on an easy blue-line shot by Colin Kilburn and it cost the Cougars a point.

At that, Flyers had a goal disallowed in each of the first two periods, referee Dick Davis ruling that Kilburn and Earl Johnson had kicked the puck into the net.

Walt Atanas, who scored one goal for the losers to make it four in two nights, left the game with an ankle injury early in the third period. Extent of his injury was not announced.

After Flyers had made it 3-0 early in the second period, Reg Abbott shot in a rebound off a try by Bernie Strongman and Atanas made it 3-2 on a double relay from Leon Bouchard and Doug Anderson.

Kilburn's easy third-period goal made the difference as Ed Dopobey scored with 62 seconds left, on a neat play. The goal moved the Victoria centre into second place in the individual scoring race, three points behind George Agar.

First period—1, Edmonton, McLean (Holbrecht, Pettinger) 7:50. 2, Edmonton, Giesbrecht (Kilburn, Thomas) 19:42. Penalties, Anderson, 10:34, McCaig 14:26, Leger 17:39.

Third period—6, Edmonton, Kilburn (Haynak, McCaig) 17:32. 7, Victoria, Dorohoy (Frampton) 18:38. Penalty, Thomas 11:12.

Colonist Cup Games Won By Oak Bay, Mount View

Two Greater Victoria High School teams won elimination series for zone representation for The Colonist Cup, emblematic of the Vancouver Island High School basketball championship, yesterday, and an Up-Island quintet took the first step in its move for the coveted trophy.

Esquimalt High School tangles with Milne's Landing on Thursday afternoon at Esquimalt in another zone final. Esquimalt holds a six-point lead in the two-game, total-point series by virtue of its 32-26 win over the suburbanites last Tuesday.

P.C.H.L. Attendance Up—Near Goal of 1,000,000

The Pacific Coast Hockey League is heading for a record attendance and the first 1,000,000 season in its history.

Figures released yesterday by league president Al Leader disclose that attendance for the first 213 games played this season is 743,092. This averages out to 3,488 a game and, continued, would mean an attendance of 976,640 for the regular season. With six teams to be engaged in playoffs, the coveted million mark is practically a certainty.

The best previous season was in 1949-50, when the league had southern and northern divisions and 10 teams. Attendance that season was 942,193. Last season, with only six clubs, the league drew 643,845.

COUGARS GAIN

Victoria Cougars, despite their drop from league and playoff champions to last place, show the biggest increase. Attendance in Victoria is up 18,523 over the corresponding figure of last season, accounting for more than half the gain of 35,947 shown by the five coast team remaining from last season.

New Westminster shows the second-highest increase with 9,556, Seattle, surprisingly, is up 8,626, while Tacoma shows an increase of 347. Only at Vancouver is attendance down, the Canucks having drawn 1,115 fewer fans this season than they did last for the same number of games.

PRAIRIES HAVE EDGE

Prairie clubs show an attendance edge over the coast clubs. The average for the three eastern cities is 4,060; the western end of the circuit is averaging 3,151 per game.

Attendance figures for each club follow:

	G.	Total	Ave.
Edmonton	25	120,235	4,809
VICTORIA	25	115,416	4,616
Calgary	25	102,847	4,114

New Westminster	27	90,141	3,338
Saskatoon	27	84,487	3,129
Seattle	26	78,856	3,579

Next game: Tonight, Toronto at New York.

Detroit Red Wings moved within five points of clinching at least a tie for the N.H.L. championship at Boston last night when they squeezed out a 4-3 win over the desperate Bruins.

Forced to play at the Boston Arena for the first time in 24 years when collapse of a wooden awning Monday broke brine pipes at Boston Gardens, the Bruins lost before the smallest Boston crowd since the move to the Gardens. The attendance was only 4,049.

Gordie Howe's 50-foot shot broke a 3-3 tie late in the third period. It was Howe's second goal and third point of the night, giving him a clear nine-point lead over Canadiens' Elmer Lach in the individual scoring race. Howe has 67 points, Lach 58 and his total includes a league-leading total of 37 goals.

Bruins fought an uphill battle, tying the score at 3-3 late in the second period when they had a manpower advantage.

First period—1, Detroit, Delvecchio (Wilson) 6:42. 2, Detroit, Lindsay (Howe) 19:15. Penalty, Peirson 9:12.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Apparently, New York Rangers don't feel they lost their N.H.L. playoff chance when goalie Chuck Rayner was put out of action with a torn knee ligament. Hockey-writer James Burchard has this to say: "Kicking a hound or a hockey player when he's down probably isn't cricket, but the loss of Rayner can't be considered a catastrophic blow to the Rangers' play-off prospects. Quite to the contrary, the Blues might prosper with a young, more active and more eager performer inside the pads. It's no secret that Rayner was on the way to retirement, enforced or otherwise. . . . Coach Bill Cook wasn't one of his strongest admirers and didn't seem at all upset." . . . Oak Bay Wanderers should have a snap when they tangle with the "Old Boys" in the planned rugby exhibition. 'Tis reported that the oldsters are in such a bad way for talent that Stan "I did, too" Williams is proudly flashing an invitation to compete. . . . Rookie Dickie Moore is the current scoring sensation in the N.H.L. but don't overlook the man who is mainly responsible—Elmer Lach. The veteran centre, who should make the all-star team and win the most valuable player award this season, has set up Moore for nine of his last 11 goals. . . . A report has it that Ezzard Charles turned down a cash offer of $100,000, said to have been made by Felix Bocchicchio, manager of Joe Walcott, to forego his contracted return bout with the veteran heavyweight champion so that a Walcott-Rocky Marciano fight could be arranged. Bocchicchio felt that he would still make money but Charles feels he is certain to get his title back. . . . After his great record-breaking time of 2:08.2 for the 1,000 yards recently, Don Gehrmann is given a chance for a double Olympic victory in the 800 and 1,500 metres, last won for the U.S. by Mel Sheppard in 1908. Gehrmann literally spread-eagled his field in the 1,000 yards smasher, leaving defending-champion Roscoe Browne and the touted Reggie Pearman floundering 50 yards back. Gehrmann announced before the race he would do the first 880 yards in 1:53, hit the time on the nose, and then actually sprinted the final 120 yards in 15.2 seconds to beat a mark set by John Borican over a decade ago by more than half a second.

It'll Be an Indian Summer

With the Tyees at Victoria joining the Chiefs at Wenatchee, the Braves at Tri-City and the Indians at Spokane, the W.I.L. will have a distinct native touch this season. Incidentally, the name Tyee is of Indian origin although there has been some argument. The word, meaning Chief, is Chinook jargon and is so listed in "Chinook, As Spoken By The Indians" written by the Rev. C. M. Tate and published in Victoria in 1889. It is also listed in Webster as Chinook jargon derived from the Nootka word Taiya, meaning "chief." So, literally a tyee salmon is a chief, i.e., big salmon . . . The man I envy least at the moment is Reg Patterson. He's going to have his hands full trying to placate Boosters, each with a different idea of what must be done with the ball club. One official, who can be expected to spend at least four hours every day in Patterson's office, has come up with a brilliant idea of how to keep the Victoria newspapermen (both of us) from being too much of a bother in searching for news to use in publicizing the club. . . . The latest count shows that there are 4,817 golf courses in the United States, 2,930 of the nine-hole variety, and 1,887 with 18 holes. It's a considerable drop from the high of 5,727. . . . New York Giants are likely to find trouble filling the lead-off spot in their batting order. There aren't many players such as Eddie Stanky, who coaxed 127 bases on balls last season despite a measly .247 batting average. . . . The four oldest standard track marks still in the record book are: the 26'8¼" broad jump made by Jesse Owens in May 1935; the 1.49.2 half mile turned in by Sid Wooderson in August, 1938; the 258'2¾" javelin throw by Yrjo Nikkanen in October, 1938, and the 6'11" high jump made by Gil Steers in June, 1941. . . . There are 463,978 registered motor boats—inboards 16 feet and up—in the United States plus an estimated 350,000 smaller inboards and 2,500,000 outboards. Strangely, Cleveland leads in registrations with 93,166. New York City has 80,053. . . . A new record of 15,392 paid admissions was set in the Quebec Senior Hockey League on Feb. 17 when Quebec Aces and Montreal Royals, the two top clubs, met in Montreal Forum. . . . If Canadians could have played .500 hockey with Detroit Red Wings, they would be leading the N.H.L. The Wings have lost only once to the Flying Frenchmen. . . . Archie Wilson, attending the preliminary camp of the New York Yankees at Lakes Wales, Florida, has had a whirl at first base along with almost every other promising infielder and outfielder. . . . Writing in the Tacoma News Tribune, sports-editor Dan Walton predicts there may be some "Chinese" home runs hit at Yakima this season. The Bears are getting Raymond Joe, long-ball hitting Chinese outfielder, from San Francisco. Congratulations, Archie, the choice couldn't have been better.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT. Tacoma and Saskatoon in the P.C.H.L., Merchants and 7-Ups in Commercial hockey playdowns, Toronto in the N.H.L. and Scott & Wright, Eaglettes and C. & C. Taxi in basketball playdowns. Batting average to date: At bat 97, hits 55, per centage .608.

Soccer School Examinations Set Next Week

Examinations in the Dominion Football Association-sponsored soccer school will be held next week, Hank Casilio announced yesterday.

The final class before the exams will be held tonight at the civil defense rooms of the Market Building, Cormorant Street, starting at 7.30.

Coaches George Kulai and Ed Ball will give the students a resume of the course. The exams will be written, will take about two hours to complete, and will deal with all practical instruction and theory received since the course started.

Commercial Playoffs Open Tonight

The Commercial Hockey League will open its 1951-52 playoffs at Memorial Arena tonight.

Army, who made the playoffs with a last-minute victory over Civil Service, will tangle with Victoria Merchants in the opener at 7.30 while 7-Ups and Navy tangle in the second contest.

The Soldiers who have been plagued with injuries and the draft all season had more bad news yesterday. Coach Charlie Pachall announced that Mel Hunter has been posted to the east and that Red Hansen has an injured ankle and he is a doubtful starter.

While Army was glum, Jim Lackie was just the opposite. He reported that Rod Jensen and Ken Gunner, would both be back in the Merchant's line-up tonight.

It was decided at an executive meeting last night that one referee and two linesmen would be used in the playoffs and that the games have 20-minute periods with clock stoppage in the final period only.

Bill Oliver's protest of the final league game between Civil Service and Army because of the Soldier's use of Sgt. Westwall was disallowed at the meeting.

President Duke Keats threw out the protest on the grounds that the player had been signed before the deadline although he did not play and that he was a replacement for a drafted player. League officials had agreed earlier to be more lenient with the service clubs since they faced the problems of military draft.

ALCOS TO WORKOUT

Alcos soccer club will hold a workout at the Lake Hill Community Hall tonight at 7.30. All players are asked to attend.

Johnny Gilbert, one of the top jockeys until he was injured last winter, has been told by his doctors that he will never ride again and he has applied for a trainer's license.

Senior Series May Postpone Minor Hockey

Ed Kelpin, British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association commissioner for Victoria, announced last night that the minor hockey play-offs previously scheduled to start at Nanaimo Saturday might have to be postponed.

He reported that if a Nanaimo Clipper-Vancouver Wheeler play-off is billed for the Civic Arena that night the play-offs will start at Nanaimo on Tuesday.

Victoria Minor Hockey Association bantam and midget division all-star team will compete in a minor hockey night at Nanaimo tomorrow. The players will leave Memorial Arena at 5 p.m.

Senators and Bruins battled to a 4-4 draw in a midget division contest yesterday. Glen Lockhart of Bruins led the scorers with two goals.

Games scheduled this week:

Tomorrow, 4 p.m.—Juvenile All-Star practice.
Saturday, 6:30 a.m.—Midget, Maroons vs. Canucks.

Cage Program Lists Play-Off Games Tonight

C. & C. Taxi will meet Cumberland in the first game of a home-and-home total-point series for the Vancouver Island intermediate "B" girls' basketball championship at the Victoria High School gymnasium tonight.

The game has been billed as the feature attraction of a three-game card and will start at 9.

Opening the program at 7, Scott & Wright will play Sooke in the second game of a two-game total-point series for the Lower Island junior boys crown.

Scott & Wright holds a 37-point lead in the series following a 50-13 win Monday at Sooke.

Eaglettes and Saanichton will meet at 8, in the second game of a two-game total-point series for the Lower Island junior girls' crown. Eaglettes won the opener, 25-24.

Rookie Infielder Signed By Tyees---Trio Ask More

Victoria Tyees (Athletics) have signed their first player. Business manager Reg Patterson announced last night that he had come to terms with Bob DeMarque, 26-year-old rookie third baseman from San Francisco.

DeMarque comes highly recommended by Lilio Marcucci, who caught for Victoria last season until he joined the Portland Beavers, and it was through Marcucci's efforts that DeMarque became Victoria property.

At the same time, however, Patterson was in receipt of three unsigned contracts. Southpaws Jim Propst and Ben Lorino and outfielder Gene Thompson all sent back the club's first offer. Needless to state, they all want more money.

PROPST, LORINO BACK

Propst and Lorino were offered the same salary they were paid [illegible] no trouble with Lorino, who explained he would like an increase mainly because he is to become a family man in the near future. Propst, who didn't exactly have an outstanding season last year, is asking for a 50 per cent increase. It is possible that he will be sold or traded and Patterson disclosed he is in receipt of a good offer for the slim left-hander.

Thompson's status is indefinite. He has been reported planning to join the Los Angeles police force during the summer, and the first offer made him was a considerable decrease from last season and his unsigned contract was no surprise.

GARRIOTT BUSY

Meanwhile, manager Cece Garriott has been lining up playing talent in the Los Angeles area for a training camp look. He has four players in mind at the moment, including a second baseman named Jay Rice, and a lefthander who played for him at Visalia last year. He believes Rice has a chance.

Garriott has also been in touch with Jim Clark, the pint-sized shortstop who finished 1951 here, but reports that Clark's demands are excessive. There are still hopes that an amicable settlement can be reached. The possibility of obtaining Keith Simon, former hard-hitting Bremerton pitcher, appear to have lessened and Garriott is on the lookout for a good veteran to play regularly and help him with the coaching.

Three Place Pools

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—A triple dead-heat, one of racing's rarities, materialized in the featured Kissimmee Purse at Hialeah Park today, when Platoon, Arthur Pilate and Colony Date were deadlocked for second behind Gold Gin, the winner.

It was the first triple dead-heat in Florida. However, the most famous three-way tie came between Bossuet, Wait a Bit and Brownie for first money in the Carter Handicap at Aqueduct in 1944.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD

Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

The last muscular force to flow into a golf swing is the wrist-lash hand action. You pour this power in during the last third of the downswing before the club smacks ball. And this hand lash, wrist action takes place in the area pictured here. It is difficult to realize how important a force for distance accuracy this wrist action is when applied correctly in the last third of the downswing. It produces the whip-cracker effect that is so important. And while a golfer is apt to think, that, after all, his wrists are about the weakest part of his golfing muscles, he forgets that the speed added to the club-head by the wrist action is multiplied by the length of the club shaft. That's the source of wrist power. Hold that wrist throw-back. Pour it in during the last third of the downswing before clubhead meets ball.

Alberta Premier Denies Race Charges

EDMONTON, Feb. 26 (CP).—Premier E. C. Manning in the Alberta legislature today said an Opposition statement that the government had paid $538,000 "hidden subsidy" to horse-racing interests was "scandal mongering and gutter politics."

The premier replied in the Throne Speech debate to a speech yesterday by J. Harper Prowse. The Liberal leader said the subsidy was given to the race organization for collecting the provincial tax on pari mutuel betting.

OLD SYSTEM

Mr. Manning said the system had been instituted by a previous government 25 years ago and had been renewed in various forms at various times. He could not recall any protests by the Liberals in previous years.

The premier announced that because the horse-racing business has prospered in recent years, the government proposes to put a ceiling on the amount of the grant. Edmonton would be the only track initially affected. He did not give the figure at which the ceiling will be set but said Calgary has not yet reached that level.

CHANGE IN METHOD

The premier also said that in future the grant will be paid to the Calgary Stampede and Edmonton Exhibitions Associations, instead of to the R. J. Speers Corporation of Winnipeg, operators of the spring meeting in Calgary and the fall meet in Edmonton.

The associations will turn 50 per cent of the grant over to the Speers Corporation, instead of vice versa as under the old arrangement.

In addition, a grant separate from the pari-mutuel tax grant to the two associations will be reduced from $10,000 to $5,000 annually.

The premier said that Mr. Prowse, "by insinuation and inuendo" yesterday had given the impression the Social Credit government had been guilty of misusing public funds. That charge, the premier said, he "refuted immediately, emphatically and completely."

He said the reason the grants did not show in the public accounts was because these dealt in net revenues. Otherwise, the budget would show an inflated picture.

OPPOSITION CHARGES

Mr. Prowse said yesterday that the provincial government over the last nine years had paid a "hidden subsidy of not less than $538,000" to stimulate interest in horse racing and wagering.

He said the Social Credit government "without the knowledge and consent" of the House gave the subsidies to horse-racing organizations. He contended that the public accounts give a "false and incomplete picture" of the payments.

Mr. Prowse said that under the Amusements Tax Act the province is authorized to levy a five-per-cent tax on all money bet through the pari-mutuels and to pay a commission to track operators for collecting it. The act allows the government to vary the commission paid the different operators.

GET COMMISSION

"When race meets were conducted under the charters of the Edmonton Exhibition Association and the Calgary Stampede Association, he said these organizations were permitted to retain one-fortieth of the tax as a commission for collecting it," the Liberal leader said.

"But when the James Speers Corporation, which conducts fall and spring meets in Calgary and Edmonton, collected the tax on meets under their sponsorship, they were permitted to retain 50 per cent of the tax as a commission for collecting it."

Mr. Prowse said he had been told the wide variation in commissions was because cash grants are given the exhibition associations. The larger commissions to the Speers Corporation of Winnipeg was to compensate for lack of such cash payment.

NOT SATISFIED

"Subsequent investigations have shown me that this is far from a satisfactory explanation. The cash grants given to the Calgary and Edmonton associations are for the express purpose of assisting them to give prizes for agricultural exhibits other than horse racing."

Mr. Prowse said proceeds of the commission were used to increase purses, encouraging horse owners to get better horses so the public might have a better grade of entertainment and thereby stimulating attendance and betting at races.

In 1943 Albertans bet $806,000 at the pari-mutuels. By 1952, the figure had risen to $4,814,000.

CLAIMS BAD JUDGMENT

He contended the government had been guilty of "very poor judgment" in giving precedence to horse racing over such things as cancer research, care of defective children and some branches of education.

Mr. Prowse said the legislature must retain and have free exercise of the right to scrutinize all collections and expenditures. But the government majority had decided the House must be content to accept ministerial assurance there were no irregularities.

Mr. Prowse listed the annual commissions to the Speers firm as: 1943, $20,157; 1944, $19,274; 1945, $57,776; 1946, $65,901; 1947, $67,857; 1948, $79,502; 1949, $63,641; 1950, $71,238; 1951, $85,401. He contended that because of the "surreptitious" manner in which these payments were made, the public accounts had become almost worthless.

Political Patronage Revived Since Split, M.L.A. Asserts

Political patronage has been revived in B.C. in the five weeks since the break-up of Coalition, a Conservative M.L.A. charged on the floor of the provincial legislature yesterday.

Donald C. Brown, member for Vancouver-Burrard, told the House that "we can all be proud" that during Coalition's 11-year regime, "the thing called political patronage has been to a very, very great extent non-existent."

But, he said, since the break-up "there has been definite evidence that the lid is off the old pork-barrel again."

He did not cite specific cases of patronage.

He said the "guarantee of the continuance of good government" will be for the people to elect a Conservative administration.

Mr. Brown told the week-old session of the legislature that he has always been opposed to sale of margarine in B.C., and to the coloring of margarine by the manufacturer.

MIND CHANGED

"But I have changed my mind," he declared. He said he would support a bill to legalize colored margarine, "if it comes before the House during this session."

(Mrs. T. J. Rolston (Ind., Vancouver-Point Grey) has given notice she will introduce a colored-margarine bill this session.)

In his 70-minute speech, Mr. Brown called for abolition of the "inequitable" levying of the 3 per cent sales tax on meals, and of the "vicious" ban against hiring persons over 45 years of age for the civil service. He demanded government help to hold the cost-of-living line, and said the provincial board must be kept alive, "if this legislature knows which side its bread is buttered on." He also demanded a $10 reduction in car license fees.

Mr. Brown strayed from the Conservative party line when he attacked the government's policy of delaying all but the most "essential" legislation until after the coming election.

REPORTS, CHARTER

He said the inquiry board reports on hospital insurance and the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, and Vancouver's revised city charter, should have been dealt with at this session.

(Conservative leader Herbert Anscomb has said in the House that the present government has no mandate to deal with these matters, and that they should be tabled until a new government is elected.)

Mr. Brown said the break-up of Coalition was "completely unnecessary," and that members of both Liberal and Conservative parties had hoped to see Coalition live out its full life.

"But private members, as too often has been the case, had little or no say in the matter," he said. "The whole thing came down on us like a ton of bricks."

STORE DIFFERENTIAL

He urged establishment of a store differential in milk prices as one means by which the provincial government could help fight the rising cost of living.

Under this plan, housewives would be able to buy milk at their neighborhood grocery stores at two to four cents less than the price of milk delivered to homes, he said.

He charged the provincial government with giving Vancouver "the run-around" on construction of the Vancouver-Squamish highway and of a new Marpole bridge.

At one point he tangled with Premier Byron Johnson on the government's treatment of the motorist.

What with high license fees, registration fees, driver's license, sales tax on cars and the province's 10-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax, "the B.C. motorist is being soaked," Mr. Brown said.

The premier challenged Mr. Brown's statement, contending that motorists in Quebec and the Maritimes are more heavily taxed than B.C. drivers.

Premier Johnson said a Quebec motorist pays $23.40 for a license for a new, medium-priced car, $2.50 for a driver's license and 11 cents a gallon tax on gasoline. In B.C., he said, the motorist pays $25 for a license for a similar car, but his driver's license is only $1 a year, and the lower gas tax more than compensates for the higher car license. In the Maritimes, he said, the gasoline tax is 13 cents a gallon.

Mr. Brown admitted that he was comparing conditions in B.C. only to those in other western provinces.

Man Without Party Puts Off Decision

LABOR Minister John Cates said yesterday he will wait until the end of the present sitting of the House before deciding to become a Liberal or Progressive Conservative.

Cates is the only minister in the cabinet who was elected as a straight Coalitionist.

"I do not intend to make any decision until we get through this session," he said.

Bills Will Go To Committee, Says Premier

B.C. Premier Byron Johnson yesterday promised that private bills will go before the legislature's private bill committee.

He did not, however, promise C.C.F. leader Harold Winch that the bills would come before the House.

Mr. Winch said he had "been given to understand" that a Liberal caucus had agreed that bills would not go past the private bills committee, if the committee met at all during the session.

He said that, according to law, the bills must come before the legislature.

Mr. Winch listed three bills entered: one from the City of Victoria, another from Holy Rosary University, and a bill to amend the Vancouver City Charter.

Premier Johnson said that it had been agreed that only urgent matters should come before the House at this session, but that "if there are bills they will go before the committee."

Fire, Police Amalgamation Opposed by Saanich Reeve

A proposal that Greater Victoria fire and police departments be formed as a means of saving money has brought sharp criticism from Saanich.

"The city has adopted the policy of not consulting other interested parties," said Reeve Joseph Casey.

"Amalgamation is further away than it ever has been," he said.

He suggested the matter possibly could be studied by an inter-municipal committee.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele concurred in the committee suggestion and indicated it could be called together if Mayor Claude L. Harrison wished to discuss the situation.

Reeve P. A. Gibbs of Oak Bay reserved comment until he has studied the report. He indicated that the municipal verdict would be against the suggestion.

Reeve Casey said that the inter-municipal committee should study the proposal before any plans have been suggested. He felt that Saanich councillors would also be against the suggestion.

Saanich councillor E. P. Cummins said he opposed the idea on grounds that the Saanich fire department is not required to handle the same "big jobs." He couldn't see any reason for amalgamation of police forces because radio has already linked the individual forces to all intents and purposes.

Reeve Wurtele said he was interested in investigating the situation. More information of that kind the better. He said, however, that costs must be closely watched.

Pair Remanded

Two East Indians from Langford, charged by the R.C.M.P. with being in possession of narcotics, yesterday were remanded to March 7 for trial.

Answering the charges in provincial police court were Ram Singh and Dhana Singh. Police evidence concerning the amount of narcotics allegedly found in the possession of the accused man is expected to be brought out at the trial.

Sales Tax Suggestion Irks Group

The Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group is perturbed at a suggestion that the three per cent sales tax may be extended to rented accommodation at auto courts and hotels.

J. M. Neely said that it would not be good psychology to ask tourists to pay three per cent to help out the B.C. hospitalization scheme.

O. B. Taylor moved that the group secretary be instructed to find out if the government intended to apply sales tax in this way, and to report back to the group.

Daylight-Time Plebiscite Urged by Delta Member

A plebiscite on daylight-saving time and pleas for another representative for his Delta riding and for a six-member committee to probe education costs were main requests yesterday by Progressive Conservative Alex Hope.

Mr. Hope said that for years he had been trying to change the B.C. legislature's mind on daylight-saving time, without success.

"The coast farmers don't like it because of heavy early-morning dew; mothers don't like it because their children stay up too late. If there is going to be a plebiscite on liquor, I would ask the government to give consideration to a plebiscite on daylight-saving time," he said.

Mr. Hope said he is representing a constituency of 35,100 voters all alone, while 10 other ridings, which between them represented only 33,150 voters in 1949, have a member each.

"When agricultural matters come up in this House, I have 10 strikes against me before I get on my feet," he said.

OPPOSED IN PAST

Although reminded by C.C.F. leader Harold Winch that he had always voted against such a move at past sessions, Mr. Hope said he advocated a committee to investigate rising educations costs and teachers' salaries.

He said representatives from the Union of B.C. Municipalities, B.C. School Trustees, Departments of Finance, Municipalities and Education and the B.C. Federation of Agriculture should be on the committee.

Clashing briefly with Independent Mrs. Tilly Rolston, Mr. Hope said that when several vital matters have been shelved by the government at this session, the issue of coloring margarine should not be allowed to come on the floor of the House.

B.C. farmers, he said, should be protected against slaughter of their cattle by careless hunters.

He asked that Attorney-General Gordon Wismer give consideration to a change in the Game Act, so that a 10-cent levy out of hunters' licenses go to a special fund which would reimburse farmers for lost livestock.

DEPLORES CUTS

Mr. Hope deplored what he called the steady cutting down of provincial agricultural budgets.

He said that less than one per cent of B.C.'s last budget was earmarked for agriculture, compared to Ontario's 4½ per cent; Alberta's 3½ per cent and Saskatchewan's 4½ per cent.

Quoting from federal labor department figures, he maintained that although wages in Canada had doubled since 1942, food prices had not increased this much.

"I say the laboring man can buy more food today for the hours he works than he could 10 years ago, so what's all this talk about the high cost of living?" he asked.

Dealing with milk prices, he said he thought the B.C. Milk Board should set a floor price to milk producers, "and let it go at that."

"Now why didn't I learn that long ago!"

"Imagine, I've been married four years and all that time I've thought my baking was as good as could be. It was good too. But nothing like the cakes and pastries I've been making since I learned the modern way. You see, I discovered that it takes a specially finely sifted flour made from the softest kinds of wheat to make perfect cakes and pastry. Well, it certainly made the family sit up and ask for more when I started baking with Monarch Cake and Pastry Flour. So delightfully tender and a wonderful texture. But after all . . . it just stands to reason that you can bake better cakes and pastries with a flour made specially for non-yeast baking."

Grand, Glorious Tussle Looms

YESTERDAY IS THE ROOT

By JIM NESBITT

M.L.A.'s this session are apparently going to have a grand and glorious political donnybrook, a knock-'em-down, drag-'em-out affair—a political tussle, complete with name-calling, that properly belongs on the hustings, not in the lawmakers' hall, maintained by the taxpayers.

Ballyhoo was ever thus on before an election and as long as the taxpayers do not object the M.L.A.'s will carry on in time honored fashion, their eyes on the voters.

Tuesday Conservative Dan Brown of Vancouver Burrard and Liberal Minister Lyons of Vancouver-Fraser Mills fought at long last of the fetters that bind them to coalition made political speeches proudly unburdened.

Conservative Vic Hesse of Delta was more concerned with farmers problems and as he spoke at the end of the day we had our heads covered by a fresh breeze from the fields and the barns after seeing more than an hour in an atmosphere something like that of crowded hotel bedrooms at political conventions.

Mr. Brown was most sad almost tearful as he contemplated the wild exposition that was the sudden breaking up of Coalition.

He said it should not have been done that his leader Mr. Anscomb should have been fired for doing what Mr. Brown called a wonderful job in the government. You could see Mr. Brown was blaming Premier Johnson for breaking the Coalition and causing this session to be forgets what he considers well, perhaps a waste of time.

Horror of Private M.L.A.'s

He expressed the horror of private M.L.A.'s when they heard the Coalition had ended, snap, like that. It had come down on them like a ton of bricks, he said. Oh, well what do you expect, said Mr. Brown: private M.L.A.'s have never been consulted about anything, except under Coalition.

Mr. Brown, one of the few speakers when he said that since the Tories left the government just a few weeks ago he could see his delegate sent up the old axe off the park bench.

Mr. Brown did not expect the Liberals here out tomorrow he meant there. He didn't expect what he meant but it stumped us guessing and in the end he was so cheerful that he said when the smoke of election battle clears the Conservatives will be in office.

It may have been that the Tories weren't listening to him as they didn't hear him for this Mr. Mc Dougall applauded, and that has been the second time a statement from Mr. Brown.

Young Mr. Finnerty a fair enough speaker, a staunch Okanagan-ite if ever there was one a staunch Liberal now that Coalition is over, dealt a little with his district, boasting of its fine fruit its growth its future.

But you could see Mr. Finnerty considers the time was come for him as a good Liberal perhaps crossroad Liberal to beat down a political opponents in conservative halls or out. No matter to him as long as he can promote Liberalism.

So he dealt with the political parties one by one. Social Credit he couldn't see for at all, he said and neither will the people, the C.C.F. stands for socialism said Mr. Finnerty and that's that the Conservatives have to say.

Enchanted at Such Confidence

Only the Liberals said Mr. Finnerty and he seems quite convinced of it have anything good to offer the very best leader any party could have, Mr. Johnson, and of course, they're bound to win and when they do British Columbia will stride forward in Industrial progress without interruption.

Liberals were enchanted at such confidence and hope Mr. Finnerty is right everyone else had doubts and hopes Mr. Finnerty is wrong.

Mr. Hope is the lightest hitest speaker in the Tory benches next to Mr. Anscomb himself. If Mr. Anscomb wins the election Mr. Hope will be the minister of agriculture.

Mr. Hope fought for the farmers. He said it's all very well for everyone to have to high heaven about the high cost of food but what about the poor farmer please? Doesn't he have to live. Doesn't he have to pay the baker and the plumber and the man who sells clothes? Of course he does.

And these other people are more to blame for the high cost of living than the farmer. People faint at the cost of butter but they apparently have plenty to spend on other things said Mr. Hope. He might have said there are never any complaints at the cost of liquor but he didn't think of that.

Mr. Hope's indignation at the profit of the farmers was splendid and everyone sat up and took notice for when he thinks of what the farmer endures, all praise to him, he gets very mad indeed and there's no doubting the sincerity of that madness.

Powerful Pleas Made Here for Start On Highway for Island West Coast

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

A concerted effort to get the B.C. government to make the Island west coast road from Jordan River to Port Renfrew and perhaps beyond was launched at Victoria yesterday.

Six Island M.L.A.'s, leading government officials, industrial organizations and Victoria city representatives gathered around the lunch table in the Empress Club to hear powerful pleas that the road would unleash tremendous tourist and scenic attractions, vast new tracts of land to industrial zoning and agricultural development.

The meeting was arranged by Mayor Cecil E. Harrison and Ald. Errol M. Bell, chairman of the city's industrial committee.

In attendance were W. T. Straith provincial secretary, M. Nelson Hodges, speaker of the House, and M.L.A.'s Arthur V. Stranch, D. J. Pearkes, Victoria; Andrew Wilkinson, Comox-Alberni; H. J. Welch, Comox; J. Mowat, Alberni, as well as representatives of the Victoria, Jordan River and Sooke Chambers of Commerce and the Victoria tourist trade group of the chamber.

Premier's secretary Straith said that the main obstacle to the early development was the prohibitive cost programme which limited the money to be spent last on the major highways of the province.

He promised, however, that the west coast road from Jordan River to Port Renfrew, a distance of [illegible] miles, would be improved [illegible] the B.C. government in 1953.

Mr. Straith suggested that a report and [illegible] be prepared by the engineering staff of the Victoria Board of Trade and presented to the B.C. government in 1953.

Mayor Harrison said that the west coast road was one of the most beautiful drives on the continent. He said that the road would be a great asset to the province and to the city of Victoria.

Ald. Bell said that the road would open up vast new tracts of land for industrial development.

Mr. Hodges said that the road would be a great asset to the province and to the city of Victoria

No Private Bills at Session, Legislative Group Tells City

The city has received official word from the municipal committee of the legislature that no private bills will be considered at the present session.

"This means that our private bill dealing with church exemptions from taxes and our bill regarding up a reserve fund for reducing our debt charges will be delayed until the next session," City Solicitor Arthur Patton has informed the mayor and council.

$100 Monthly Offered For Robert House Rent

The city has received an offer from Woodward's Ltd. to rent Prince Robert House for $100 a month on a year-to-year lease.

Through the firm of Ker & Stephenson, Ltd., the department store has indicated it would agree to a lease requiring it to move out at any time, subject to two months' notice.

"In making this offer, we would like to point out that such an occupancy would protect your property which is presently falling into further disrepair, with particular emphasis on the windows, which have been broken. It would also help as added revenue to the city coffers," the letter signed by B. Russel Ker states.

The company would use the building for storage purposes.

An offer from Woodwards to buy the building for the sum of $50,000 was turned down by the city two years ago.

Budget of Civil Defense Estimated at $86,000

A budget of $86,000 for 1952 civil defense needs was presented to members of the Greater Victoria Civil Defense Board yesterday by Co-ordinator Leonard Hatcher.

An additional and tentative item of $100,000 was entered in the budget as the cost of strengthening existing basements to provide air raid shelter for 20,000 persons in the city.

It is expected the latter proposal will be dropped for this year, however.

In the main budget, Mr. Hatcher has included $60,000 for the construction of a central control room.

Mr. Hatcher told the board that provincial civil defense authorities have recommended the need for a central control room outside the city.

It was decided that a report be obtained on the cost of radio versus wire control. Most members of the board expressed concern over the high cost suggested.

Board members will study the proposed budget and report their views to the next meeting.

New City C.C.L. Union Names Official Slate

ON THE LABOR FRONT

By BILL MAYOR

The 10th trade union in the city with Canadian Congress of Labor affiliation—the Victoria Fuel Distributors' Union—was officially designated last night.

Barton Alexander was elected president. Other officers elected were Derrick Belcher, first vice-president; Clifford Alexander, recording secretary; G. Williams, warden; Louis West, conductor. Trustees will be elected at the [illegible]

The union, with a membership of 50, voted affiliation with Victoria Labor Council and the B.C. Federation of Labor, both C.C.L. bodies.

Officers were installed by Jack McKenzie, president and business agent of Local 1-118, International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.). He also addressed the meeting, outlining responsibilities of the officers and the entire trade union.

A Labor Relations Board conciliation officer will meet with United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) and contractors at Courtenay Saturday to assist in current wage negotiations.

Appointment of the officer is expected today.

Five hundred carpenters in up-Island districts are asking a $2.50-an-hour wage rate, a 50-cent-an-hour increase from the last agreement.

The I.W.A. in Victoria announced that it has been advised some persons are soliciting advertising in the name of Local 1-118. Business agent Edwin Haw said yesterday no authorization has been given anyone for such work.

* * *

A 20-cent-an-hour wage increase has been agreed to by 150 packinghouse workers in five branches of Brackman-Ker Milling Co. Ltd.

Actual wage increase is seven cents an hour, the remaining a 13-cent cost-of-living bonus. Basic rate now will be $1.28 an hour.

Wage increases retroactive to Dec. 1 will be effective for workers at Victoria, Vancouver and Fraser Valley points.

At Vancouver, it's reported that an injunction has been granted in Supreme Court restraining Local 212 of the Meat Cutters' Union (T.L.C.) from [illegible] during picketing of a Vancouver butcher shop.

The injunction from Mr. Justice Wilson does not stop picketing.

The court order was obtained for Frederick Lake, whose affidavit stated he had refused to sign a proposed agreement between former shop operators and the union because the one man employed in the shop was satisfied with wages and working conditions, it was reported.

Talk Given On Dances Of Indians

Wilson Duff, provincial anthropologist, gave an illustrated talk on "Dances of the Alberni Indians" to the members of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Men's Club at the annual meeting Monday.

The entire slate of officers for 1952 was elected by acclamation.

F. M. Whyte was named president and William Colvin vice-president. Other officers are W. B. Scotney, secretary; A. McCoy, treasurer; D. Elford, entertainment convener.

Members of the executive committee are P. R. Bell, R. T. Colebrook, S. H. Gordon, W. Hogg, R. Lloyd, K. L. Leeming, C. Morrison, J. McPherson and F. Yeomans.

Oak Bay Taxi Operator Fined $10 As By-Law Upheld in Police Court

Validity of the city taxi by-law was upheld in city police court yesterday by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Convicted on a charge of operating a taxi in Victoria without a license was Oak Bay taxi operator Harold Atwell, 2675 Windsor. He was fined $10.

Earlier Atwell admitted picking up a fare in Victoria and delivering the person to another address in the city. He also said in evidence that his Oak Bay telephone could be by-passed to another taxi stand in the city which would accept calls when he was not in and relay them to him by radio.

"Your normal place of business is in Oak Bay and you carried on business other than that," the magistrate declared. "It is also your practice to keep in touch with an office in the city and call in from time to time."

Earlier, City Prosecutor James Proudfoot pointed out that the Municipal Act called for a license fee to be charged against anyone taking his business across a boundary into another municipality.

A. C. Blackmore, 2622 Mount Stephen Avenue, pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge, resulting from an accident in which a pedestrian was injured, and was fined $50 and had his license suspended. A report was made to the motor vehicle branch.

A radio technician for deep-sea ships, Robert G. Rodgers, 2110 Belmont, who pleaded guilty to dangerous driving, was fined $75 and had his driver's license suspended except for business purposes for two years.

"I am going to alter what I would normally do in this case," the magistrate declared after a plea by accused that he was the only such radio technician in Victoria and that he required his car for business.

Thomas H. Bragg, 1141 Johnson, was fined $35 for violating a restricted driver's license and a report was made to the motor vehicle department.

Driving a car with an inadequate muffler cost Robert B. Finlayson, 1415 Fort, a $10 fine.

Civic Affairs Course Begins

A course in civic affairs will be introduced at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting tonight at the Bon Vivant Cafe.

Three lectures will be delivered during the course.

City Clerk Frank M. Hunter will be guest speaker at the meeting, outlining relationship of boards, commissions, committees and municipal institutions, selection of council and mayor and duties of elected and appointed officials, and the departments of municipal government and their functions.

Other speakers later will be Comptroller Treasurer H. T. Watson and City Solicitor A. J. Patton.

"Buy British" Suggested As Apt Royal Memorial

An all-out "Buy British" campaign, as a memorial to King George VI, was suggested in the provincial Legislature yesterday.

Maurice Finnerty (Lib., Similkameen) provided a new idea in the formal regrets at the King's death, which have been expressed by every speaker so far in the week-old session of the Legislature.

He said "the most fitting memorial" Canadians could give the King would be an easing of Britain's economic troubles.

"We are in a position to render a service to the economy of Great Britain that no other country could do," he said.

He noted that Canada's imports from Great Britain had fallen off by 33 per cent in 1950, while her imports from the U.S.A. had gone up by 34 per cent.

"If governments, businesses and people, whenever possible, would purchase British goods," he said, "it would go a long way toward relieving the economic problems besetting Great Britain."

NAMES CONTESTANTS

He referred to the 1950 Conservative convention, in which Herbert Anscomb beat Independent W. A. C. Bennett (Social Credit party member), South Okanagan M.L.A., in an election for the party leadership.

Mr. Finnerty said it was a contest "between a wine merchant from Victoria and a winesap from the Okanagan."

He said his advice to W. N. Chant, Esquimalt candidate for provincial leadership of the Social Credit party, was, "Keep your back to the wall."

Mr. Finnerty said the Liberal party had also had an election for the party leadership. (Premier Byron Johnson won out over Attorney-General Gordon Wismer in a close vote).

"But after the democratic convention had spoken," Mr. Finnerty said, "the unsuccessful candidate became, not the man with a knife in his hand, but the leader's strong right arm."

Tories Elect G. McGregor

George McGregor Monday night was elected president of Esquimalt Rural South Branch of The Progressive-Conservative Association.

Elected first vice-president was Mrs. C. Burbidge of Colwood. R. V. Bing, Glen Lake, was elected second vice-president. Office of secretary will be filled later.

Guest speaker was Major-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.L.A., who spoke on his recent trip to Europe as an advisor to a Canadian delegation attending the United Nations General Assembly at Paris.

The pitcher plant of Madagascar is a shrub four feet high, bearing jug-shaped, water-filled pitchers in which it traps and digests unwary insects.
